Will Display Dutch Flags At City Hall

Mayor to Give Welcome at High School During Program Featuring Ties With Holland

To Arrive at 2 P. M.

Royal Visitor Will Lay Wreath at Statue of Peter Stuyvesant

The Netherlands consulate general in New York city released on March 18 the official schedule of the visit of Her Majesty Queen Juliana of the Netherlands to Kingston.

The royal visit is made as a compliment to the city of Kingston in connection with the celebration of that city's 300th birthday, in progress this year, and because of the large number of residents in Kingston and adjacent cities in the Hudson Valley who are of Dutch descent.

Her Majesty will fly from the Netherlands to Washington, D. C. on Wednesday, April 2, for a state visit to the United States. She will spend Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in Washington, leaving by air for Kingston at 9 a. m. on Saturday morning, April 5. En route a short stop will be made at Philadelphia.

To Visit West Point

The Royal party will arrive at Stewart Field, West Point's airfield at 1 p. m. His Royal Highness Prince Bernhard, in his capacity as chief of the Dutch military forces, will go directly to the academy at West Point.

Queen Juliana, accompanied by His Excellency Dr. J. H. van Roijen and Mrs. van Roijen; John F. Simmons, chief of protocol of the United States State Department; Rear Admiral Emmet P. Forrestel, American aide to Her Majesty and His Royal Highness; Baron and Baroness de Vos van Steenwijk; Lieutenant Commander J. G. Stegeman, aide de camp to Her Majesty; and Jonkvrouwe C.E.B. Roell, lady-in-waiting to Her Majesty; will arrive at the Rondout Creek Bridge, the Kingston city limits at 2 p. m.

Will Halt Traffic

Proceeding up Broadway, the party is due at 2:05 p. m. at the Kingston High School. Her Majesty will be welcomed on the steps of the High School by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk who will extend to her the greetings of the citizens of Kingston. Her Majesty will respond with a brief address to the thousands of people assembled on the high school and city hall lawns and in Broadway, which will be closed to traffic for the occasion at this point.

Upon the arrival of the party at the high school, the high school band will strike up "Wilhelmus Van Nassouwen," the Dutch National Anthem, and the "Star Spangled Banner." The Dutch national colors will be run up on the city flagpole at this time, to fly during the balance of the visit. Her Majesty will be presented with a bouquet by Pamela Dykstra, granddaughter of Dr. Milton Hoffman who has been knighted as a Knight of Orange-Nassau by the Dutch government.

Also briefly presented will be Beatrice Newkirk and Cynthia Steketee, Kingston High School students who lived in Holland last summer as American exchange students.

At 2:30, the party will depart for Academy Green, by the way of Foxhall, Flatbush and Albany avenues where Her Majesty will

Hundreds Marry Japanese Girls to Beat Deadline Date

Tokyo, March 19 (AP)—Hundreds of American servicemen married Japanese girls today—just in time to beat the deadline for taking their petite brides home to the United States.

James B. Pilcher, U. S. consul general, estimated the last-day rush of civil ceremonies at six consular offices increased the number of servicemen legally married to Japanese to about 8,000.

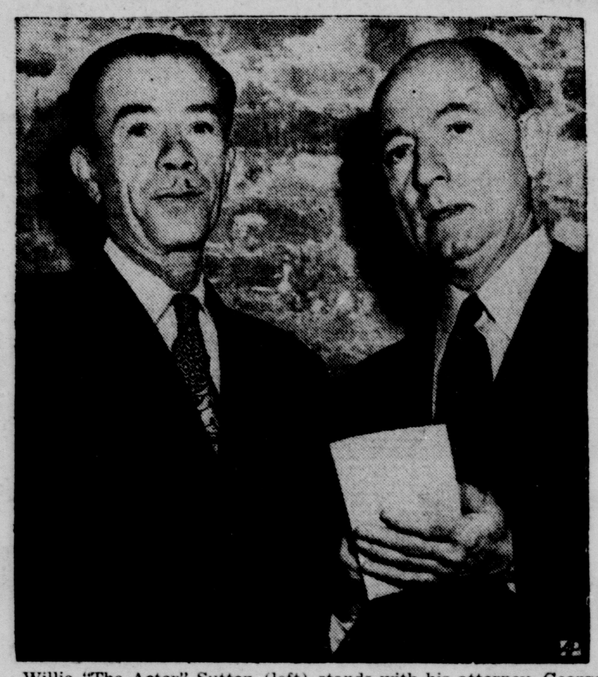
An accurate count will not be available for days.

Servicemen had to be married by 2 p. m. today (midnight Tuesday, EST) to benefit from a law which enables them to take their oriental brides to the U. S.

Most of the bridegrooms were based in Japan. Some were on leave from Korea. A few came on furloughs from the U. S.

Many of the couples brought children. Some were born out of wedlock but most were born with the benefit of a Japanese marriage ceremony.

Sutton Arrives for Trial



Willie "The Actor" Sutton (left) stands with his attorney, George Washingon Herz, before entering Queens County Court, New York city, March 18, for the start of his trial in connection with the $64,000 robbery of the Manufacturers Trust Company's Sunnyside branch two years ago. Sutton already faces life imprisonment for four felony convictions. He never finished two of his prison terms, escaping from Sing Sing and later from Holmesburg, Pa., prisons.

Held for Threat

William Brinckerhoff Brown (above), 61-year-old grave digger of Queens, New York city, was arrested by the FBI March 17 on a charge of mailing a theatening letter to Arnold Schuster, Brooklyn pants salesman, who was slain after identifying Willie (The Actor) Sutton. The FBI said it had taken Brown into custody under federal extortion statute, and that Brown had admitted mailing a letter to Schuster last Feb. 22, four days after the slain tipster had identified Sutton.

Inside Story Is Due on Sutton

Third Man Accused, Now State's Witness to Tell of Bank Plans

New York, March 19 (AP)—Queens Assistant District Attorney James P. McGrattan today said that state's witness John DeVenuta will tell a detailed inside-the-gang story of how Willie Sutton robbed a bank of $64,000 two years ago.

Sutton, 51, and widely described as the nation's top bank robber, and Thomas Kling, 45, are on trial in Queens county court for the March 9, 1950 robbery at the Sunnyside branch of the Manufactures Trust Co.

De Venuta, 37, was accused of being the third man in the holdup. He was granted a separate trial yesterday, when it was announced he would testify against Sutton and Kling.

McGrattan said that De Venuta would testify as to the planning of the robbery, the method of transportation to the bank and "how the loot was shared."

Five Jurors Selected

The spectre of the slaying of Arnold Schuster, 24-year-old pants salesman, less than three weeks after he pointed out Sutton to police hung over the trial.

Police closely guarded court officials and prospective jurors.

One talesman said he already had formed an opinion in the case.

"You're not afraid of anything?" asked Judge Peter T. Farrell. The man said he was not, and was excused.

Judge Farrell has ruled that the Schuster slaying has "absolutely no connection" with the defendants, but references to the murder cropped up a number of times.

Volunteers Move To Stop New York From Taking Water

Firemen Seek Legislation to Prevent Tapping Streams Used in Fire Prevention

An inter-county committee of area volunteer firemen's associations has moved to obtain legislative support to prevent the taking by New York city of too much water from certain mountain streams, it was learned today.

The committee reported at a meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Lomontville last night that letters had been sent March 7 to all state legislators representing Ulster and neighboring counties asking them to restrict the taking of water necessary for use in fire prevention.

A stream near Woodbourne was mentioned specifically at last night's session and it is charged that if New York city, in the development of its water works projects, is allowed to tax streams too heavily they will be lacking in their use for fire prevention.

Cite Lackawack Stream

The stream cited as a case in point is in the area of New York's Lackawack project and near the Ulster-Sullivan county line.

Letters were sent to all state senators and assemblymen representing the area, to the State Conservation Department and others who might be interested.

A report on the association's efforts to obtain two-way radio service for fire fighting, indicated no progress locally, but it was reported that Monroe county's volunteer firemen's association had established the first such service in the nation.

The firemen were guests of the Lomontville Fire Department. The next meeting will be held at the Cottekill Social Relief Home, Cottekill, where the firemen will be guests of the Cottekill and Binnewater fire companies.

Rondout National Best Bidder on City Bonds

The Rondout National Bank was the successful bidder on $251,000 city bonds.

The bid was $1.25 interest and $185.79 premium. The other two nearest bidders were Salomon Bros. and Hutzler of New York, $1.25 interest and $56 premium, and Barr Brothers, of New York, $1.30 interest and $323.79 premium.

The money is to be used to retire bond anticipation notes covering costs of street improvement, machinery, fire apparatus and sewer work.

Ferry Starting Date Is Still Indefinite

Preparations are nearing completion for resumption of the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry schedule, it was learned today but the New York State Bridge Authority is unable to fix a definite date at this time.

It was indicated, however, that efforts had been aimed toward start of the service by the end of this week or as early as possible next week, but the date cannot be set until an inspection is made.

War Truce Big Factor In Election

McKinney Says Truman May Not Run Again if Korean Talks Have Satisfactory Ending

Consults President

Leading Party Members Want Definite Word on Intentions

Key West, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Democratic Chairman Frank E. McKinney suggested today that President Truman may not run for re-election if a "satisfactory" truce is reached in Korea.

McKinney told a news conference the Korean situation is a "paramount" factor in Truman's consideration.

And he said his own opinion, based on conversations with the President, is that "his decision will be predicated on the success or failure of resolving the Korean situation satisfactorily."

McKinney added that personally, if he had undertaken a job of such importance as Korea, and it was accomplished, he would feel that his job was done.

Talks With Truman

McKinney has just completed two days of talks with Truman. When he came here, there were reports that some influential party leaders were insisting he should seek definite word from the President as to his intentions.

The suggestion that Truman's decision hinged on the outcome in Korea developed in a sparring exchange with reporters.

He was asked whether "a Korean settlement would lessen the chances of Mr. Truman seeking re-election."

McKinney replied: "In my opinion, it may, and that is my opinion."

Will Favor Open Convention

He said that if Truman does not run the President will not attempt to dictate the Democratic nominee but will favor an "open convention."

McKinney also said the President will not announce his intentions to the Jefferson-Jackson dinner of the Democratic party in Washington March 29, but will "in ample time before the July convention" to clear the way for other candidates.

McKinney said his own target date for public word from the President is May 15 when the Democratic Executive Committee meets in Chicago to pick a keynoter and other officers for the convention.

As to prospects for a Korean truce, McKinney told reporters: "The wish may be father to the thought, but it is hoped that the Korean situation can be resolved by convention time or at least by election time."

Dispatches from Munsan, Korea, today said Communist newsmen with the Red truce delegation were talking of a truce agreement in three or four weeks. They often reflect the views of Red delegates.

Herzog at Hospital

Matthew H. Herzog, of 171 Wall street, who had been hospitalized in Florida for a heart condition early in February, was admitted to Kingston Hospital late last night. His condition was reported today as "fair." Mr. Herzog, who is president of the Herzog Supply Co., Inc., had been staying at West Palm Beach when he became ill last month.

Truman Is Out of Poll On Coast

Democrats Are Puzzled in California by His Sudden Withdrawal From Race

Want Answers

Kefauver Supporters Elated; Hoping for 68 Convention Votes

Should they put up a favorite son candidate to protect California's 68 convention votes for the pro-Truman faction? Switch allegiance to Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee or some other name Democrat? Or not do anything—and in effect concede the big delegation to Kefauver?

The Truman campaign committee has been summoned here tomorrow to try to answer those questions. Meantime, members declined to even guess what will happen.

Kefauver supporters were elated. He is the only Democratic candidate in California's June 3 primary.

The state's Democratic high command, almost solidly behind Truman, was left with a slate of delegates and campaign forces organized—but no candidate. It had gone ahead without any word as to whether the President would seek reelection.

Roosevelt Refuses

James Roosevelt declared "under no circumstances" would he be willing to be a favorite son candidate. He bolted Truman in 1948 to support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Democratic nomination. Defeated by Gov. Earl Warren for the governorship in 1950, he has swung over in recent months to open support for Truman.

The President, who ran second to Kefauver in New Hampshire just a week ago, acted yesterday through Frank McKinney, national Democratic chairman, to head off a California slate pledged to him. State law gives him the right to withdraw.

On the Republican side, announced candidates are Governor Warren, Harold E. Stassen and Rep. Thomas H. Werdel, nominal choice of an anti-Warren faction.

Train Crew Helps Remove Car From Rails Near Bridge

John, it seems, and as the police explain, "lost control" of his car while driving over a side road near the bridge. A front wheel ran over a rail and he was unable to get the vehicle off the tracks.

Police were notified at 8:10 p. m., that "a man was yelling for help," near the bridge and Officers George Dougherty and William Norton were dispatched there. They reported that Cross had been yelling for help to get the car off before a train came. Meanwhile, "a train passing on the other tracks stopped and its crew with the officers and Cross removed it.

Eisenhower Shows Well In Minnesota; Gets 39 Per Cent of GOP Total

Campaign Topper

Favorite Son Stassen Leads as Two Thirds of Precincts Turn in Reports

Edges Truman

Kefauver Is Favored by Democrats Over President

Minneapolis, March 19 (AP)—With nearly two-thirds of the precincts reporting, write-in candidate Gen. Dwight Eisenhower had won an amazing 39 per cent of the Republican total in Minnesota's presidential primary election Tuesday.

"Favorite son" Harold E. Stassen, whose name was printed on the ballot, got about 42 per cent.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), whose name was not printed on the ballot, got 8.4 per cent of the GOP vote.

The drive for the write-in vote, most always difficult to capture, had been started by Minnesota for Eisenhower only last Friday, following the attorney general's ruling that such votes would count.

Amid a confusion of court actions and legal opinions surrounding the primary, voters took the trouble to run up an unprecedented write-in total for Eisenhower.

Won't Mean Delegates

Despite the fact Eisenhower made an astonishing showing against former Governor Stassen, the election will not automatically mean any national convention delegates for him. No delegate provision for write-in candidates is contained in the primary law. It appeared that only court action or national or state convention maneuvering could net any Minnesota delegates for Eisenhower.

In the Democratic write-in voting, Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) had a heavy margin over President Truman. However, observers felt that much of the Truman vote had gone to Sen. Humphrey (D.-Minn.), whose name was the only one printed on the Democratic ballot. Humphrey had announced he would turn over his delegation to Truman should the President decide to run again. No Minnesota campaign had been conducted for Truman, while a small, but vocal group had talked up Kefauver.

Reports on Poll

With 2,227 of Minnesota's 3,769 precincts reporting, Eisenhower had 92,833 votes, compared with 100,529 for Stassen. Edward C. Slettedahl, a political unknown whose name was also printed on the GOP ballot, got 18,048 votes. Other Republican write-in totals were 19,803 for Sen. Taft (R.-Ohio), 4,515 for Gov. Earl Warren of California and 1,264 for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Humphrey — the only Democratic ballot candidate — polled 82,642 votes. Kefauver had 16,271 write-ins and Truman 2,971 write-ins.

Corruption Probes Hit New Stride; Morris' Power Is Cut

Saugerties Is Only Section Showing Opposition at Polls

Protective and Taxpayers Parties Swarm to Vote Near End of Deadline

Village elections in an "off-year" were held in the five incorporated villages of the county Tuesday and only in Saugerties was there opposition.

With two parties represented on the ticket the total vote was less than a year ago when a full ticket was elected. Only three village trustees were elected in Saugerties and the total vote was 1357. A year ago 1584 turned out to the polls.

In a last minute show of strength both the Citizens Protective Party and the Taxpayers Party brought a deluge of voters and in the last three hours of voting over 500 votes were cast. Prior to that the voting had been "steady" but slow. Both parties marshalled their strength during the last few minutes. Polls were open from 12 noon to 9 p. m.

Henry York, endorsed by both parties received 1212 votes. The

Request Made for Look at Tax Returns of McGrath and 19 Aides

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Political bomb-bursts rolled up and down Pennsylvania avenue today as corruption probes-within-probes veered off in unpredictable directions.

These developments stood out in the bitter election-year struggle between the Truman administration and its critics:

1. Newbold Morris, President Truman's specially appointed corruption sleuth, called on Attorney General McGrath (his own immediate superior) and 595 other top Justice Department officials to submit detailed data on the financial status of themselves and their immediate kin.

Wide Range of Questions

The questions asked ranged from stock market speculation and gambling to how many fur coats are now in the family compared with five years ago.

2. A House Judiciary Subcommittee set up in the wake of congressional disclosures of tax collection scandals asked Truman for a look at the income tax returns of McGrath and 19 of his aides.

3. The same committee asked McGrath to appear for questioning March 26 in connection with the committee's own investigation of Justice Department affairs. Republican presidential possibility Harold E. Stassen has suggested an inquiry into reports that McGrath has become a millionaire in his 21 years in public office.

Can't Subpoena Witnesses

4. The Senate Judiciary Committee rejected Truman's request that Investigator Morris be given power to subpoena witnesses and require the production of records from non-government sources.

Instead, Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) said his group had approved "a new approach" to the government cleanup problem. This would involve presidential appointment of a chief investigator and five assistants who — unlike Morris—would be subject to Senate confirmation.

Further, in sharp contrast to the Morris plan of operations, Congress would have access to all information gathered by these investigators, through subpoena powers or otherwise.

McCarran and other members of the committee made it amply clear that they did not have Mor-

Primary Fights In Prospect for 6 State Delegates

Albany, March 19 (AP)—Taft-Eisenhower primary scraps are in prospect for at least six of New York's 96 delegates to the Republican national convention.

Governor Dewey hopes to sew up the entire delegation for General Eisenhower.

Winners of the fights that developed yesterday in New York city and Buffalo will be decided in the state's spring primary April 22. Under state law, the delegates will go to the Chicago convention unpledged.

The Republicans will elect two delegates from each of the state's 45 old congressional districts and six at large.

For districts that go beyond county lines, petitions must be forwarded to the Department of State here. The deadline for mailing was midnight last night and it may be several days before all are delivered.

The metropolitan fight involves the 16th Congressional District

Firemen Seek Legislation to Prevent Tapping Streams Used in Fire Prevention

An inter-county committee of area volunteer firemen's associations has moved to obtain legislative support to prevent the taking by New York city of too much water from certain mountain streams, it was learned today.

The committee reported at a meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Lomontville last night that letters had been sent March 7 to all state legislators representing Ulster and neighboring counties asking them to restrict the taking of water necessary for use in fire prevention.

Kefauver Supporters Elated; Hoping for 68 Convention Votes

Should they put up a favorite son candidate to protect California's 68 convention votes for the pro-Truman faction? Switch allegiance to Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee or some other name Democrat? Or not do anything—and in effect concede the big delegation to Kefauver?

James Roosevelt declared "under no circumstances" would he be willing to be a favorite son candidate. He bolted Truman in 1948 to support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Democratic nomination. Defeated by Gov. Earl Warren for the governorship in 1950, he has swung over in recent months to open support for Truman.

The President, who ran second to Kefauver in New Hampshire just a week ago, acted yesterday through Frank McKinney, national Democratic chairman, to head off a California slate pledged to him. State law gives him the right to withdraw.

On the Republican side, announced candidates are Governor Warren, Harold E. Stassen and Rep. Thomas H. Werdel, nominal choice of an anti-Warren faction.

Train Crew Helps Remove Car From Rails Near Bridge

John, it seems, and as the police explain, "lost control" of his car while driving over a side road near the bridge. A front wheel ran over a rail and he was unable to get the vehicle off the tracks.

Police were notified at 8:10 p. m., that "a man was yelling for help," near the bridge and Officers George Dougherty and William Norton were dispatched there. They reported that Cross had been yelling for help to get the car off before a train came. Meanwhile, "a train passing on the other tracks stopped and its crew with the officers and Cross removed it.

Eisenhower Shows Well In Minnesota; Gets 39 Per Cent of GOP Total

Campaign Topper

Favorite Son Stassen Leads as Two Thirds of Precincts Turn in Reports

Edges Truman

Kefauver Is Favored by Democrats Over President

Minneapolis, March 19 (AP) — With nearly two-thirds of the precincts reporting, write-in candidate Gen. Dwight Eisenhower had won an amazing 39 per cent of the Republican total in Minnesota's presidential primary election Tuesday.

"Favorite son" Harold E. Stassen, whose name was printed on the ballot, got about 42 per cent.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), whose name was not printed on the ballot, got 8.4 per cent of the GOP vote.

The drive for the write-in vote, most always difficult to capture, had been started by Minnesota for Eisenhower only last Friday, following the attorney general's ruling that such votes would count.

Amid a confusion of court actions and legal opinions surrounding the primary, voters took the trouble to run up an unprecedented write-in total for Eisenhower.

Won't Mean Delegates

Despite the fact Eisenhower made an astonishing showing against former Governor Stassen, the election will not automatically mean any national convention delegates for him. No delegate provision for write-in candidates is contained in the primary law. It appeared that only court action or national or state convention maneuvering could net any Minnesota delegates for Eisenhower.

In the Democratic write-in voting, Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) had a heavy margin over President Truman. However, observers felt that much of the Truman vote had gone to Sen. Humphrey (D.-Minn.), whose name was the only one printed on the Democratic ballot. Humphrey had announced he would turn over his delegation to Truman should the President decide to run again. No Minnesota campaign had been conducted for Truman, while a small, but vocal group had talked up Kefauver.

Reports on Poll

With 2,227 of Minnesota's 3,769 precincts reporting, Eisenhower had 92,833 votes, compared with 100,529 for Stassen. Edward C. Slettedahl, a political unknown whose name was also printed on the GOP ballot, got 18,048 votes. Other Republican write-in totals were 19,803 for Sen. Taft (R.-Ohio), 4,515 for Gov. Earl Warren of California and 1,264 for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Humphrey — the only Democratic ballot candidate — polled 82,642 votes. Kefauver had 16,271 write-ins and Truman 2,971 write-ins.

Corruption Probes Hit New Stride; Morris' Power Is Cut

Saugerties Is Only Section Showing Opposition at Polls

Protective and Taxpayers Parties Swarm to Vote Near End of Deadline

Village elections in an "off-year" were held in the five incorporated villages of the county Tuesday and only in Saugerties was there opposition.

With two parties represented on the ticket the total vote was less than a year ago when a full ticket was elected. Only three village trustees were elected in Saugerties and the total vote was 1357. A year ago 1584 turned out to the polls.

In a last minute show of strength both the Citizens Protective Party and the Taxpayers Party brought a deluge of voters and in the last three hours of voting over 500 votes were cast. Prior to that the voting had been "steady" but slow. Both parties marshalled their strength during the last few minutes. Polls were open from 12 noon to 9 p. m.

Request Made for Look at Tax Returns of McGrath and 19 Aides

Washington, March 19 (AP)—Political bomb-bursts rolled up and down Pennsylvania avenue today as corruption probes-within-probes veered off in unpredictable directions.

These developments stood out in the bitter election-year struggle between the Truman administration and its critics:

1. Newbold Morris, President Truman's specially appointed corruption sleuth, called on Attorney General McGrath (his own immediate superior) and 595 other top Justice Department officials to submit detailed data on the financial status of themselves and their immediate kin.

Wide Range of Questions

The questions asked ranged from stock market speculation and gambling to how many fur coats are now in the family compared with five years ago.

2. A House Judiciary Subcommittee set up in the wake of congressional disclosures of tax collection scandals asked Truman for a look at the income tax returns of McGrath and 19 of his aides.

3. The same committee asked McGrath to appear for questioning March 26 in connection with the committee's own investigation of Justice Department affairs. Republican presidential possibility Harold E. Stassen has suggested an inquiry into reports that McGrath has become a millionaire in his 21 years in public office.

Can't Subpoena Witnesses

4. The Senate Judiciary Committee rejected Truman's request that Investigator Morris be given power to subpoena witnesses and require the production of records from non-government sources.

Instead, Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) said his group had approved "a new approach" to the government cleanup problem. This would involve presidential appointment of a chief investigator and five assistants who — unlike Morris—would be subject to Senate confirmation.

Further, in sharp contrast to the Morris plan of operations, Congress would have access to all information gathered by these investigators, through subpoena powers or otherwise.

McCarran and other members of the committee made it amply clear that they did not have Mor-

Primary Fights In Prospect for 6 State Delegates

Albany, March 19 (AP)—Taft-Eisenhower primary scraps are in prospect for at least six of New York's 96 delegates to the Republican national convention.

Governor Dewey hopes to sew up the entire delegation for General Eisenhower.

Winners of the fights that developed yesterday in New York city and Buffalo will be decided in the state's spring primary April 22. Under state law, the delegates will go to the Chicago convention unpledged.

The Republicans will elect two delegates from each of the state's 45 old congressional districts and six at large.

For districts that go beyond county lines, petitions must be forwarded to the Department of State here. The deadline for mailing was midnight last night and it may be several days before all are delivered.

The contests furnished no clear-cut clues to the composition of New York's delegation.

Forsakes His Pal Willie

John DeVenuta (center), former pal of Willie (The Actor) Sutton, talks with his attorneys, Anthony Livoti (left) and Michael M. Alercio in Queens county courthouse, N. Y. The state said DeVenuta will take the stand against Willie who went on trial for 1950 holdup of a Manufacturers Trust Co. branch in Queens. DeVenuta reportedly has told of his part in the holdup. Beautify House Entrance

March 17, 1952

Editor, The Freeman:

May I submit a practical suggestion for the 300th anniversary of Kingston?

We all love our city and are proud of the fact that it originally was a Dutch settlement as the historians point out. This is expressed in the celebration by having planted tulips which I hope will soon start blossoming to beautify our city.

May I now take the opportunity to point out that when I was in Holland I saw not only beautiful tulips but was also impressed seeing in every town and city at every house entrance a cute little electric lamp with the house number painted on it.

Since doctors have often difficulty in finding the house number when called in emergency especially at night, I think it would be a good idea to beautify our house entrances with similar lights.

It will save precious time in emergency and will look lovely.

Sincerely,
LEON S. GRAY, M.D.

France Asks Assurance On German Program

Paris, March 19 (AP)—France's government wants a binding promise from the U. S. Congress and Britain's Parliament that rearmed Germans won't pull out of the proposed European army and revive the Wehrmacht.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman told this to the National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday, a communique reported.

Assurances against such German action were given Schuman by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at their meeting in London last month, but the French now apparently want to be sure British and American legislators will back up the diplomats.

France originally proposed the European army as a way of getting the Germans into uniform without reviving their national army. The French Parliament has raised objections to the plan recently, however.

Gas Wipes Out Family Of Three in Brooklyn

New York, March 19 (AP)—Gas wiped out a three-member Brooklyn family yesterday in a case that stumped police.

Kaye Kagiwara, 56-year-old Japanese counterman, and his five-year-old son Harry were found dead in their second-floor tenement flat. The mother, Anatalia, 25, was dying.

There were no notes. Mrs. Kagiwara, a white woman, died in a hospital without being questioned.

Police wondered if the three died from an accident, a suicide attempt or homicide.

Police went to the apartment after Kagiwara failed to show up for work and his employer, Mrs. Mary Kaneta, grew worried about him.

The apartment was locked. Kagiwara was lying in one room, his family in another room. The place was filled with gas.

Beautify House Entrance

Editor, The Freeman:

May I submit a practical suggestion for the 300th anniversary of Kingston?

We all love our city and are proud of the fact that it originally was a Dutch settlement as the historians point out. This is expressed in the celebration by having planted tulips which I hope will soon start blossoming to beautify our city.

May I now take the opportunity to point out that when I was in Holland I saw not only beautiful tulips but was also impressed seeing in every town and city at every house entrance a cute little electric lamp with the house number painted on it.

Since doctors have often difficulty in finding the house number when called in emergency especially at night, I think it would be a good idea to beautify our house entrances with similar lights.

It will save precious time in emergency and will look lovely.

Sincerely,
LEON S. GRAY, M.D.

France Asks Assurance On German Program

Paris, March 19 (AP)—France's government wants a binding promise from the U. S. Congress and Britain's Parliament that rearmed Germans won't pull out of the proposed European army and revive the Wehrmacht.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman told this to the National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday, a communique reported.

Assurances against such German action were given Schuman by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at their meeting in London last month, but the French now apparently want to be sure British and American legislators will back up the diplomats.

France originally proposed the European army as a way of getting the Germans into uniform without reviving their national army. The French Parliament has raised objections to the plan recently, however.

Gas Wipes Out Family Of Three in Brooklyn

New York, March 19 (AP)—Gas wiped out a three-member Brooklyn family yesterday in a case that stumped police.

Kaye Kagiwara, 56-year-old Japanese counterman, and his five-year-old son Harry were found dead in their second-floor tenement flat. The mother, Anatalia, 25, was dying.

There were no notes. Mrs. Kagiwara, a white woman, died in a hospital without being questioned.

Police wondered if the three died from an accident, a suicide attempt or homicide.

Police went to the apartment after Kagiwara failed to show up for work and his employer, Mrs. Mary Kaneta, grew worried about him.

The apartment was locked. Kagiwara was lying in one room, his family in another room. The place was filled with gas.

Two Honeymooning Near Peace Talk Site

Panmunjom, Korea, March 19 (AP)—There is no telling what will happen next at Panmunjom—it is a honeymoon spot now.

Barrett and his wife, the former Ruth Karpf of New York city, were married in Tokyo March 4. Mrs. Barrett represents the "Reporter Magazine."

"It is better to have a honeymoon at Panmunjom than no honeymoon at all," she said.

MAKING WISHES COME TRUE

The six-year-old girl of Narvik, Norway, would like to know that her last wish came true.

From the talk of her parents, the child had learned of the suffering of the war waifs of Korea. She, who knew what suffering could be.

For some time she thought it over, and then one day she asked her mother and daddy if she couldn't send the Korean children some clothes. Before anything could be done about it, she died.

Remembering their child's wish, the mother and father asked persons coming to the funeral to bring children's clothes instead of flowers.

There came 20 woolen sweaters and nine woolen scarfs. They were sent to Korea by the Norwegian Red Cross.

The story of the child of Narvik has a strong appeal in the confused world of today. We like to know of the simple, good things that people wish for others. We like to know of people who make those wishes come true.

And we wish, all too momentarily perhaps, that we could do more such things ourselves. We can.

The Red Cross of Norway, which sent the clothing to Korea, is but one of 68 such Red Cross societies throughout the world which do countless such deeds daily.

Its big job now is helping to ease the shocks and the pain of war for our fighting men and their families. It serves as a counseling friend of the serviceman with troubles. It provides the necessary factual reassurances about him for his family back home. It provides necessary financial help for the serviceman and his family.

At the same time it is the one greatest source of help for disaster's destitute—victims of floods, fires, storms—who are unable to help themselves.

Remember the great Kansas and Missouri floods of last summer? Thousands of men, women and children of that flood area know what Red Cross help means. The organization spent more than $12,000,000 in that one relief operation—all of it on people, the people who actually had suffered and who couldn't get back on their feet without help.

American Red Cross help goes all over the world—equipment for a children's tuberculosis hospital in Italy; food for flood sufferers of India; food and medicine for earthquake victims in South America.

Still, it and its sister societies are never too big or too busy to help make come true the last wish of a little girl in Norway.

The Red Cross can make lots of such wishes come true—your wishes. A contribution to the organization's current fund drive can insure the granting of yours.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNORS

Why should the governor and the lieutenant governor be of different parties? While this is not frequent, it does occur. The president and vice-president are always of the same party by the conditions of their election. Why should the states have a different arrangement, allowing the death of a chief executive to turn over the government, as it sometimes does, to a successor of a different party? No logical reason can justify this.

A proposed constitutional amendment introduced into the New York legislature would bracket together the party candidates for these two offices, so that a vote for a particular nominee for governor would automatically carry with it support for his running mate, the lieutenant governor.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

The French said about Aristide Briand, the premier after World War I who did much for international reconciliation, "He knows nothing and understands everything." Of his rival, the inflexible Raymond Poincare, president during World War I and after it, a premier who worked hard for sound national finance, they said, "He knows everything and understands nothing."

Without doubt the Briand type of statesman is better adapted to a democratic nation than the Poincare variety. Unfortunately countries are too often afflicted with public men who know nothing and understand nothing.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

SOCIALISM AND POWER

The British Socialists, when they were in power, nationalized about 20 per cent of the British economy. They did it openly and candidly; they told the British people with forthright honesty what they were doing and why. They called themselves Socialists and made no bones about it. For six years, the British people accepted Socialism and then by a narrow margin, they turned out the Socialists and put in the Conservatives under Winston Churchill.

In this country, we have for almost 20 years been engaged in one form or another of socialization. We have called it the "New Deal," the "Fair Deal," and even "Private Enterprise." The theory has been that it is possible to sell the American people anything, as long as it is gaily packaged.

One of the services that has, in a measure, been socialized, is electric power. No statement was made that socialization was intended; such slogans as "TWA" or "Flood Control," or "Rural Electrification" were employed. In this article, I am not going to discuss the virtues of the effort but the methods of accomplishment.

The assumption of the British Socialists has been that the British people are sufficiently mature to understand a program; the assumption of the American socializers has been that the American people, being politically immature, preferring circuses to ideas, need to be fooled into doing what is good for them.

The "Flood Control Act of 1944," which is a socializing measure, we are now told, requires that municipalities, other public authorities, and cooperatives created under Rural Electrification Acts, be given preference in the distribution of public-owned power facilities. However, we are not being told that what is meant by "public power" are those facilities built by army engineers as incidental to reservoir projects for flood control purposes.

Even the TVA was created to regulate the stream flow primarily for the purpose of promoting navigation and controlling floods. The production of electric power was to be incidental. Actually TVA is a socialized power project, competing with and tending to absorb privately-owned power. In the great debate on this subject, in which Wendell Willkie defended private power, the government denied the socializing character of TVA.

The question that arises here is the confidence of government in the people. If the government frankly admitted what it intended to do, the people might have supported the position of the government. But our politicians were taking no risks of that kind. They packaged their socialistic intentions in the beautiful colors of preserving private enterprise from the ravages of revolution.

They shifted the costs from the erection of government-owned power to such items as flood control, navigation, etc. The comparative costs between privately-owned and government-owned power projects are falsified by not including interest charges or the equivalent of federal, state and local taxes which the private company has to pay and the government project does not have to pay. The Treasury of the United States, and therefore the taxpayer, absorbs losses, if any, in the government project.

Maybe the people want it that way, but it was never explained to the people that this was a movement in the direction of socializing a great industry and putting the cost of its operation on the taxpayer. At the present time, such an effort at socialization is being made with power developed on the Niagara River, where private enterprise has been operating for 50 years.

For 30 years, the privately-owned hydroelectric companies on the Niagara River have sought to expand their facilities but were inhibited by our treaties with Canada concerning water diversion. Now that that has been arranged, the Federal government has seized upon the plans of these private companies and proposes to socialize them—but without the packaging of flood control, irrigation, navigation, etc. This is a straight out-and-out plan for socialization.

Here is an instance concerning which the people can make a decision. Do they want socialization or not? Do they desire a duplicate government operation which can, by the elimination of tax factors, put privately-owned operations on a non-competitive basis, thus destroying the property values of an existing system of power provision? And, of course, the cost of the effort would have to be loaded on the taxpayer.

I have simplified the issue by eliminating the double-talk of the socializers.

PROLONGED STANDING AFFECTS HEART

It is not unusual, during the passing of a parade, to have one of the observers at the roadside collapse. The use of "smelling salts" (aromatic spirits of ammonia) or the fact that in falling down his head is lowered, brings him around. Similarly, when a squad of infantry are kept "at attention" for an inspection, one or more of the group may collapse.

In The Journal of Applied Physiology, Drs. E. E. Eddleman, Jr., K. Willis and H. E. Heyer report that electrokymographic studies were made on four males standing motionless for 16 to 30 minutes. The apparent stroke volumes, back to front diameters, blood pressure, and phases or rhythm of the complete heart beat (cycle) were determined at three-minute intervals until syncope (collapse) occurred. There were apparently three stages in the physiological response to motionless standing.

First, there was a decrease in stroke volume and width of heart from front to back during the first 4 to 12 minutes, probably the result of pooling of blood in the legs.

Secondly, there was a temporary rise in stroke volume of the heart associated with an increase in the front to back measurement of the heart.

Thirdly, the front to back diameters of the heart continued to increase with a decline in the stroke volume until syncope occurred. The normal or mean blood pressure was maintained right up to the abrupt onset of syncope.

The above shows us that standing absolutely still causes pooling of blood in the legs, then the increase in stroke volume as Nature tries to give the circulation some extra help under the strain of standing still, and finally the collapse or weakening of heart muscle under the long strain of standing still.

Some months ago, we wrote about the method to prevent fainting or collapse while watching a parade. It is simply rising on the toes from time to time, which pumps the blood upward and onward toward the heart. With foot soldiers the method of overcoming the standing still effects upon the heart is first standing at ease and then standing "easy," during which the soldier is free to move his legs, stand on toes or other exercise but must not move away from the spot.

The thought behind all the above is that standing absolutely still prevents proper circulation of the blood throughout the entire body.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The final decision regarding a steel strike will depend primarily on four men. These men belong neither to the union nor to a steel company. They are the government officials who must decide whether they can permit a boost in wages to be compensated for by a boost in the price of steel.

The four men are: Ex-Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia, now on the immediate price firing line as director of the Office of Price Stabilization; 2, Roger Putnam, Springfield, Mass., manufacturer, now head of Economic Stabilization; 3, Charles E. Wilson, former head of General Electric, now head of Defense Mobilization; and, finally, President Truman.

All four, at the moment, are agreed that the steel-industry profits are zooming, that they have never been so high before, and that they are ample to take care of the wage boost being proposed by the wage board. They also agree that to grant an increase in steel prices—beyond the modest boost which comes automatically under the Capehart amendment—would start more inflation.

Furthermore, OPS Director Arnall feels so strongly about this that he would resign before upping the price of steel. Arnall doesn't believe in fireworks or fancy resignations. But he has told close friends that he'll politely pick up his hat and go back to Georgia if he is ordered to grant an increase in steel prices.

Significantly, President Truman feels exactly the same way. He has told advisers that he won't give the steel industry a penny of price increase.

So, if the men at the top and bottom stick together, the steel industry may be in for a rough time.

Jet Censorship

Secretary of the Navy Dan Kimball has put himself in the position of censoring navy subordinates for talking to the Washington Merry-Go-Round, yet at the same time criticizing the Washington Merry-Go-Round for allegedly failing to talk to the navy.

Last week, this columnist published a comparison of naval jet engines purchased from Pratt-Whitney in East Hartford, Conn., and Allison Motors in Indianapolis, in which it was pointed out that the Allison jet job cost only $31,000, while the Pratt-Whitney jet job cost $50,046. Yet the navy ordered 2,435 of the more expensive Pratt-Whitney engines and only 200 of the Allisons, though naval pilots, as of February, still found the Pratt-Whitney performance "unacceptable."

Immediately following publication of this column, one naval technician, Vernon Haynes, mentioned as favoring the Allison engine, was sent a peremptory letter by the navy, demanding an explanation as to why he had "talked to Pearson."

Subsequently, Haynes was summoned to the office of the secretary of the navy and asked to explain why his name had "appeared in Pearson's column" as favoring the Allison engine.

Simultaneously, the same secretary of the navy wrote an official letter inquiring why Pearson had not discussed jet engines with navy press relations.

In other words, the navy appeared more concerned with smoking out my news sources than crackig down on officers responsible for the jet-engine blunder. "Talking to Pearson," it seemed, was a greater crime than having no jet planes capable of meeting the enemy in Korea.

Note—Naval pilots, who are among the best in the world, but who have been kept out of the Korean jet fighting by poor naval engine design, point to some interesting comparisons between the Pratt-Whitney J48 engine and the Allison J33. The turbine blades on the Pratt-Whitney, they point out, cost $99 each, on the Allison only $19. Likewise, the Pratt-Whitney tail pipe costs $800 while the Allison tail pipe costs $200.

Kefauver's Chances

The real test of whether Senator Kefauver can buck the united weight of Truman forces and city bosses will come within the next 60 days in four key primaries. They are Wisconsin and Nebraska, both on April 1, New Jersey on April 15, and Florida May 27.

Of these the most interesting battles will be in Nebraska and Florida.

The Nebraska primary is against Sen. Bob Kerr, genial Oklahoma oil millionaire who has the backing of Truman's former counsel, Clark Clifford. This results from the interesting fact that Clifford is Washington lobbyist for Phillips Petroleum, and that Senator Kerr participates in various Phillips oil and gas leases in the southwest.

The Florida primary, however, will be even more significant. Here Kefauver will buck overwhelming odds, as follows:

A. The popularity of Senator Russell of Georgia.

B. The big money of the big gamblers.

C. The political machine of Florida's Gov. Fuller Warren.

Florida will be the first test between Senators Russell and Kefauver. Generally speaking, southern senators are jealous of their Tennessee colleague, feel he is too young, has served too briefly in the Senate. Seniority counts heavily in Congress, and men like George of Georgia, now over 70, and McKellar of Tennessee, now over 80, bitterly resent Kefauver's youth, energy, and popularity.

That's one reason they goaded Senator Russell into becoming a candidate.

Gamblers Want Revenge

An even greater handicap in Florida, however, will be the gambling money sure to oppose Kefauver. Gamblers all the way from Chicago to Miami have made no secret of their hope that the Tennessee senator would enter the Florida primary. And they are laying to get him, no matter how much it costs.

Also lying in wait is Democratic Gov. Warren, who accepted more than a quarter of a million dollars of gambler contributions and was promptly put on the spot by the Kefauver committee. As of today, Warren has never accepted the Kefauver invitation to testify.

So, when Kefauver comes into Florida for the May 27 primary, as he definitely is doing, the most potent and wealthy forces in the state will be waiting—itching for revenge.

Note — Some other important primaries will take place before Florida, such as Illinois April 6, Pennsylvania April 22, and Maryland May 5, but none quite as significant or as tough as Florida.

The Hill of the Waiting Wife

In the Shauhing Mountains of Kwangtung, China, a strange landmark dominates a tall hill. It is known as the Waiting Wife. Many centuries ago a woman greatly devoted to her husband waited here in vain for his return until she finally died and was buried on the spot. When her husband finally arrived he had her buried within a great 30 foot stone casket. She still stands on the spot where she waited and will continue to wait for all eternity.

Antiracial Outbursts Believed Conspiracy Set Up by Communists for Propaganda

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Officials are beginning to speculate as to whether there isn't a pattern of conspiracy in the bombings and untoward incidents of racial friction which have been reported from various parts of the country in recent weeks.

Bombings of homes when Negroes have moved into sections where white predominate numerically or bombings where Negroes have been active in asserting their rights have been recorded now in Florida and California, together with threats of violence or antiracial outbursts in Iowa, Pennsylvania and New York.

It is part of the Communist technique, of course, to stir up friction and then to point to the results in a propaganda calculated to arouse more racial antagonism. It is to be noted that there has also been reported recently manifestations of a widespread anti-Semitic propaganda, some of which cropped out in New York in the threatening letters received before and after the slaying of Arnold Schuster.

There are about 30,000 Communists in the United States, according to the records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It doesn't take a large number to produce mischief. The other day, in Detroit, it was testified before a congressional committee that just a few hundred Communists took over control of a labor union in the automobile industry with 60,000 members.

The fact that some of the antiracial manifestations seem to show similarities to Fascist behavior during the past war does not mean that Fascism is resurging. Communists take advantage of any possible basis for friction to increase the tensions between groups, both religious and racial.

The case of the Hawaiian-born couple who wanted to buy a house in Des Moines, only to find that the owners were threatened in telephone calls from persons in the neighborhood where the new residence was to be purchased, is shrouded in mystery. The Hawaiian couple finally did buy the house they wanted, as public opinion asserted itself to welcome them. But there has been as yet no explanation of the reason for the anonymous calls and what stirred the case up. Similar activity has been reported from other sections of the country.

Unless citizens are alert to the possibilities of being exploited by those individuals who are interested in fomenting discord and breeding dissension, innocent persons may unwittingly become the instruments of such conspiracies.

Racial friction and antagonisms are unfortunately an old story in this and other countries, and were not invented by Communists. In Russia they themselves are guilty of racial and religious discrimination. But, with the Communist tendency to fish in troubled waters, it is possible for such feuds in America to be intensified now and for the resultant publicity to play into the hands of the Communist agitators.

Government officials are watching the situation closely. Some of the episodes have been staged by juvenile hoodlums, but whether the teen-agers have been egged on or incited to their acts by older persons with a purpose has not been disclosed. Officials here are not saying what conclusions they have drawn, if any, from the sudden emergence of racial episodes, and they are inclined to feel that local communities should be more vigilant than ever to find out something about the persons who seem to be eager to magnify racial or religious differences and produce public controversy that will attract the attention of the press.

There is, of course, at all times a legitimate pressure exerted by organizations representing minority groups which are striving by public education to bring about a better understanding between groups and to remove segregational restrictions and discriminatory attitudes, but none of these organizations condones or encourages methods of violence or threats of violence as a means of achieveing the objectives of their respective causes.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, March 18—I have returned to New York but I have an accumulation of information which I gathered in a number of European countries which I shall continue to report in these dispatches from day to day or intermittently. I have not given as thorough an account as I think the case deserves, of the subsidies which the citizens of this country are paying through their income taxes for the more abundant life of our carpet-bag government or bureaucracy in Germany. There are other phases of the "occupation" and of the simultaneous and continuing effort to "democratize" the Germans which I found were more obscure and more difficult to get at.

I think, however, that I have been able to sink a pick into this difficult subject, encrusted as it is with a hard shell of journalistic and political inhibitions and fears, and will work away at it with that persistence which has earned me the entitlements of bore and crusader. I will prove, at least, that much has been done in secret in Germany which should have been published to the American people if only because the American people, as a whole, one day will have to take the blame for a regular program of avaricious and predatory acts which were done under a constructive, legalistic "authority" from our citizens. We should have had such information as day-by-day news, anyway. I think I will be able to disclose some deals in Germany which reflect no honor on the people of the United States and yielded us no profit but were profitable to others acting under an assumption of authority from us. The administration in Germany, and I think this goes as well for the administration of General Clay who has been held up to us as a great and scrupulously conscientious politico-military administrator, has been of a general piece, morally, with the political administration here at home which raised Clay to higher rank than he might have reached but for his accommodating political amiability.

Some of the generals with whom I discussed the presence of wives and children of American service men, from generals down to sergeants, in the "field" in Germany and eastern France who might be captured by a quick Russian invasion and held as hostages, have insisted that the German peoples would be thrown into alarm by a sudden withdrawal of these precious ones. I hope I do not seem to be personally offensive in facing this fact but, whether I do or not, it is a fact that by no means all of these wives and kiddies are as attractive to the German people as their husbands and fathers think they are. Any alarm that the Germans might feel, if they should interpret this exodus as forewarning of a Russian invasion in force, would be compensated to some extent by satisfactions. After all, their military position would not be impaired and, as I have been arguing, it would be improved by the removal from the field of battle of our women and children. The German women and children would be no worse for knowing that in the event of a war in their land the principal force of defenders, the American army and air force, would not be diverted from urgent military duties to push perambulators down highways under machine-gun fire.

The mission of these forces actually is somewhere between a simulated military situation at Plattsburg, a camping party and a vacation in some foreign land where the natives are decent enough to your face but not our kind of folks. The pay scale is fantastic and the fault of Congress which has tried to pay the armed forces a rate as close as possible to the inflationary wages which the professional unioneers have insisted on for workers in civil industry at home.

It costs as much to put into the rear area of the "field" an American administrative sergeant, such as a dentist's helper of the air force, with a certain complement of dependants, as it costs to confront the enemy with a combat platoon of Frenchmen, Italians, Belgians, Portuguese and Spaniards. Of these, the French and Italians, at this writing, would include Communist traitors at the ratio of one in three. The Portuguese would be reasonably pure, although you never can tell what is running through the minds of people who live under the silence of a dictator with flycops listening to casual discussions in the bus-queues. The Spaniards are fierce fighters and, in general, hate the Communists for taking over the government of their country in the civil war, a humiliating thing. Hitler and Mussolini gave military help to Franco, but he never let them sit at the head of the table.

One of our generals of high rank observed that some of the junior officers had become uncomfortably conscious that some noncoms got more than they did. Eisenhower's seniments are about the same. It has been whispered darkly that some young American married men cannot be trusted to remain chaste in foreign lands. An American tourist who cried "a thousand times 'no!' " at this was put to flight with his hands clapped to his ears by a flippant reference to the high proportion of marriages in the same age brackets which go to divorce in the courts back home.

The coin never has been minted which is precious enough to pay the warrior for his courage and sacrifice in defending his country and the effort of political alchemists to achieve this miracle is just pricing defense out of the market. One school of thought holds that Stalin is too wise to incur the inconvenience and cost of a war with our country and will win the victory by forcing us to spend ourselves broke in direct consequence of which we will go into political dissolution.

MAKING WISHES COME TRUE

The six-year-old girl of Narvik, Norway, would like to know that her last wish came true.

From the talk of her parents, the child had learned of the suffering of the war waifs of Korea. She, who knew what suffering could be.

For some time she thought it over, and then one day she asked her mother and daddy if she couldn't send the Korean children some clothes. Before anything could be done about it, she died.

Remembering their child's wish, the mother and father asked persons coming to the funeral to bring children's clothes instead of flowers.

There came 20 woolen sweaters and nine woolen scarfs. They were sent to Korea by the Norwegian Red Cross.

The story of the child of Narvik has a strong appeal in the confused world of today. We like to know of the simple, good things that people wish for others. We like to know of people who make those wishes come true.

And we wish, all too momentarily perhaps, that we could do more such things ourselves. We can.

The Red Cross of Norway, which sent the clothing to Korea, is but one of 68 such Red Cross societies throughout the world which do countless such deeds daily.

Its big job now is helping to ease the shocks and the pain of war for our fighting men and their families. It serves as a counseling friend of the serviceman with troubles. It provides the necessary factual reassurances about him for his family back home. It provides necessary financial help for the serviceman and his family.

At the same time it is the one greatest source of help for disaster's destitute—victims of floods, fires, storms—who are unable to help themselves.

Remember the great Kansas and Missouri floods of last summer? Thousands of men, women and children of that flood area know what Red Cross help means. The organization spent more than $12,000,000 in that one relief operation—all of it on people, the people who actually had suffered and who couldn't get back on their feet without help.

American Red Cross help goes all over the world—equipment for a children's tuberculosis hospital in Italy; food for flood sufferers of India; food and medicine for earthquake victims in South America.

Still, it and its sister societies are never too big or too busy to help make come true the last wish of a little girl in Norway.

The Red Cross can make lots of such wishes come true—your wishes. A contribution to the organization's current fund drive can insure the granting of yours.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNORS

Why should the governor and the lieutenant governor be of different parties? While this is not frequent, it does occur. The president and vice-president are always of the same party by the conditions of their election. Why should the states have a different arrangement, allowing the death of a chief executive to turn over the government, as it sometimes does, to a successor of a different party? No logical reason can justify this.

A proposed constitutional amendment introduced into the New York legislature would bracket together the party candidates for these two offices, so that a vote for a particular nominee for governor would automatically carry with it support for his running mate, the lieutenant governor.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

The French said about Aristide Briand, the premier after World War I who did much for international reconciliation, "He knows nothing and understands everything." Of his rival, the inflexible Raymond Poincare, president during World War I and after it, a premier who worked hard for sound national finance, they said, "He knows everything and understands nothing."

Without doubt the Briand type of statesman is better adapted to a democratic nation than the Poincare variety. Unfortunately countries are too often afflicted with public men who know nothing and understand nothing.

'These Days'

SOCIALISM AND POWER

The British Socialists, when they were in power, nationalized about 20 per cent of the British economy. They did it openly and candidly; they told the British people with forthright honesty what they were doing and why. They called themselves Socialists and made no bones about it. For six years, the British people accepted Socialism and then by a narrow margin, they turned out the Socialists and put in the Conservatives under Winston Churchill.

In this country, we have for almost 20 years been engaged in one form or another of socialization. We have called it the "New Deal," the "Fair Deal," and even "Private Enterprise." The theory has been that it is possible to sell the American people anything, as long as it is gaily packaged.

One of the services that has, in a measure, been socialized, is electric power. No statement was made that socialization was intended; such slogans as "TWA" or "Flood Control," or "Rural Electrification" were employed. In this article, I am not going to discuss the virtues of the effort but the methods of accomplishment.

The assumption of the British Socialists has been that the British people are sufficiently mature to understand a program; the assumption of the American socializers has been that the American people, being politically immature, preferring circuses to ideas, need to be fooled into doing what is good for them.

The "Flood Control Act of 1944," which is a socializing measure, we are now told, requires that municipalities, other public authorities, and cooperatives created under Rural Electrification Acts, be given preference in the distribution of public-owned power facilities. However, we are not being told that what is meant by "public power" are those facilities built by army engineers as incidental to reservoir projects for flood control purposes.

Even the TVA was created to regulate the stream flow primarily for the purpose of promoting navigation and controlling floods. The production of electric power was to be incidental. Actually TVA is a socialized power project, competing with and tending to absorb privately-owned power. In the great debate on this subject, in which Wendell Willkie defended private power, the government denied the socializing character of TVA.

The question that arises here is the confidence of government in the people. If the government frankly admitted what it intended to do, the people might have supported the position of the government. But our politicians were taking no risks of that kind. They packaged their socialistic intentions in the beautiful colors of preserving private enterprise from the ravages of revolution.

They shifted the costs from the erection of government-owned power to such items as flood control, navigation, etc. The comparative costs between privately-owned and government-owned power projects are falsified by not including interest charges or the equivalent of federal, state and local taxes which the private company has to pay and the government project does not have to pay. The Treasury of the United States, and therefore the taxpayer, absorbs losses, if any, in the government project.

Maybe the people want it that way, but it was never explained to the people that this was a movement in the direction of socializing a great industry and putting the cost of its operation on the taxpayer. At the present time, such an effort at socialization is being made with power developed on the Niagara River, where private enterprise has been operating for 50 years.

For 30 years, the privately-owned hydroelectric companies on the Niagara River have sought to expand their facilities but were inhibited by our treaties with Canada concerning water diversion. Now that that has been arranged, the Federal government has seized upon the plans of these private companies and proposes to socialize them—but without the packaging of flood control, irrigation, navigation, etc. This is a straight out-and-out plan for socialization.

Here is an instance concerning which the people can make a decision. Do they want socialization or not? Do they desire a duplicate government operation which can, by the elimination of tax factors, put privately-owned operations on a non-competitive basis, thus destroying the property values of an existing system of power provision? And, of course, the cost of the effort would have to be loaded on the taxpayer.

I have simplified the issue by eliminating the double-talk of the socializers.

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PROLONGED STANDING AFFECTS HEART

It is not unusual, during the passing of a parade, to have one of the observers at the roadside collapse. The use of "smelling salts" (aromatic spirits of ammonia) or the fact that in falling down his head is lowered, brings him around. Similarly, when a squad of infantry are kept "at attention" for an inspection, one or more of the group may collapse.

In The Journal of Applied Physiology, Drs. E. E. Eddleman, Jr., K. Willis and H. E. Heyer report that electrokymographic studies were made on four males standing motionless for 16 to 30 minutes. The apparent stroke volumes, back to front diameters, blood pressure, and phases or rhythm of the complete heart beat (cycle) were determined at three-minute intervals until syncope (collapse) occurred. There were apparently three stages in the physiological response to motionless standing.

First, there was a decrease in stroke volume and width of heart from front to back during the first 4 to 12 minutes, probably the result of pooling of blood in the legs.

Secondly, there was a temporary rise in stroke volume of the heart associated with an increase in the front to back measurement of the heart.

Thirdly, the front to back diameters of the heart continued to increase with a decline in the stroke volume until syncope occurred. The normal or mean blood pressure was maintained right up to the abrupt onset of syncope.

The above shows us that standing absolutely still causes pooling of blood in the legs, then the increase in stroke volume as Nature tries to give the circulation some extra help under the strain of standing still, and finally the collapse or weakening of heart muscle under the long strain of standing still.

Some months ago, we wrote about the method to prevent fainting or collapse while watching a parade. It is simply rising on the toes from time to time, which pumps the blood upward and onward toward the heart. With foot soldiers the method of overcoming the standing still effects upon the heart is first standing at ease and then standing "easy," during which the soldier is free to move his legs, stand on toes or other exercise but must not move away from the spot.

The thought behind all the above is that standing absolutely still prevents proper circulation of the blood throughout the entire body.

How Is Your Blood Pressure?

We are all interested in our blood pressure these days and there are several facts we should know about it. The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The final decision regarding a steel strike will depend primarily on four men. These men belong neither to the union nor to a steel company. They are the government officials who must decide whether they can permit a boost in wages to be compensated for by a boost in the price of steel.

The four men are: Ex-Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia, now on the immediate price firing line as director of the Office of Price Stabilization; 2, Roger Putnam, Springfield, Mass., manufacturer, now head of Economic Stabilization; 3, Charles E. Wilson, former head of General Electric, now head of Defense Mobilization; and, finally, President Truman.

All four, at the moment, are agreed that the steel-industry profits are zooming, that they have never been so high before, and that they are ample to take care of the wage boost being proposed by the wage board. They also agree that to grant an increase in steel prices—beyond the modest boost which comes automatically under the Capehart amendment—would start more inflation.

Furthermore, OPS Director Arnall feels so strongly about this that he would resign before upping the price of steel. Arnall doesn't believe in fireworks or fancy resignations. But he has told close friends that he'll politely pick up his hat and go back to Georgia if he is ordered to grant an increase in steel prices.

Significantly, President Truman feels exactly the same way. He has told advisers that he won't give the steel industry a penny of price increase.

So, if the men at the top and bottom stick together, the steel industry may be in for a rough time.

Jet Censorship

Secretary of the Navy Dan Kimball has put himself in the position of censoring navy subordinates for talking to the Washington Merry-Go-Round, yet at the same time criticizing the Washington Merry-Go-Round for allegedly failing to talk to the navy.

Last week, this columnist published a comparison of naval jet engines purchased from Pratt-Whitney in East Hartford, Conn., and Allison Motors in Indianapolis, in which it was pointed out that the Allison jet job cost only $31,000, while the Pratt-Whitney jet job cost $50,046. Yet the navy ordered 2,435 of the more expensive Pratt-Whitney engines and only 200 of the Allisons, though naval pilots, as of February, still found the Pratt-Whitney performance "unacceptable."

Immediately following publication of this column, one naval technician, Vernon Haynes, mentioned as favoring the Allison engine, was sent a peremptory letter by the navy, demanding an explanation as to why he had "talked to Pearson."

Subsequently, Haynes was summoned to the office of the secretary of the navy and asked to explain why his name had "appeared in Pearson's column" as favoring the Allison engine.

Simultaneously, the same secretary of the navy wrote an official letter inquiring why Pearson had not discussed jet engines with navy press relations.

In other words, the navy appeared more concerned with smoking out my news sources than crackig down on officers responsible for the jet-engine blunder. "Talking to Pearson," it seemed, was a greater crime than having no jet planes capable of meeting the enemy in Korea.

Note—Naval pilots, who are among the best in the world, but who have been kept out of the Korean jet fighting by poor naval engine design, point to some interesting comparisons between the Pratt-Whitney J48 engine and the Allison J33. The turbine blades on the Pratt-Whitney, they point out, cost $99 each, on the Allison only $19. Likewise, the Pratt-Whitney tail pipe costs $800 while the Allison tail pipe costs $200.

Kefauver's Chances

The real test of whether Senator Kefauver can buck the united weight of Truman forces and city bosses will come within the next 60 days in four key primaries. They are Wisconsin and Nebraska, both on April 1, New Jersey on April 15, and Florida May 27.

Of these the most interesting battles will be in Nebraska and Florida.

The Nebraska primary is against Sen. Bob Kerr, genial Oklahoma oil millionaire who has the backing of Truman's former counsel, Clark Clifford. This results from the interesting fact that Clifford is Washington lobbyist for Phillips Petroleum, and that Senator Kerr participates in various Phillips oil and gas leases in the southwest.

The Florida primary, however, will be even more significant. Here Kefauver will buck overwhelming odds, as follows:

A. The popularity of Senator Russell of Georgia.

B. The big money of the big gamblers.

C. The political machine of Florida's Gov. Fuller Warren.

Florida will be the first test between Senators Russell and Kefauver. Generally speaking, southern senators are jealous of their Tennessee colleague, feel he is too young, has served too briefly in the Senate. Seniority counts heavily in Congress, and men like George of Georgia, now over 70, and McKellar of Tennessee, now over 80, bitterly resent Kefauver's youth, energy, and popularity.

That's one reason they goaded Senator Russell into becoming a candidate.

Gamblers Want Revenge

An even greater handicap in Florida, however, will be the gambling money sure to oppose Kefauver. Gamblers all the way from Chicago to Miami have made no secret of their hope that the Tennessee senator would enter the Florida primary. And they are laying to get him, no matter how much it costs.

Also lying in wait is Democratic Gov. Warren, who accepted more than a quarter of a million dollars of gambler contributions and was promptly put on the spot by the Kefauver committee. As of today, Warren has never accepted the Kefauver invitation to testify.

So, when Kefauver comes into Florida for the May 27 primary, as he definitely is doing, the most potent and wealthy forces in the state will be waiting—itching for revenge.

Note — Some other important primaries will take place before Florida, such as Illinois April 6, Pennsylvania April 22, and Maryland May 5, but none quite as significant or as tough as Florida.

The Hill of the Waiting Wife

In the Shauhing Mountains of Kwangtung, China, a strange landmark dominates a tall hill. It is known as the Waiting Wife. Many centuries ago a woman greatly devoted to her husband waited here in vain for his return until she finally died and was buried on the spot. When her husband finally arrived he had her buried within a great 30 foot stone casket. She still stands on the spot where she waited and will continue to wait for all eternity.

Antiracial Outbursts Believed Conspiracy Set Up by Communists for Propaganda

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Officials are beginning to speculate as to whether there isn't a pattern of conspiracy in the bombings and untoward incidents of racial friction which have been reported from various parts of the country in recent weeks.

Bombings of homes when Negroes have moved into sections where white predominate numerically or bombings where Negroes have been active in asserting their rights have been recorded now in Florida and California, together with threats of violence or antiracial outbursts in Iowa, Pennsylvania and New York.

It is part of the Communist technique, of course, to stir up friction and then to point to the results in a propaganda calculated to arouse more racial antagonism. It is to be noted that there has also been reported recently manifestations of a widespread anti-Semitic propaganda, some of which cropped out in New York in the threatening letters received before and after the slaying of Arnold Schuster.

There are about 30,000 Communists in the United States, according to the records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It doesn't take a large number to produce mischief. The other day, in Detroit, it was testified before a congressional committee that just a few hundred Communists took over control of a labor union in the automobile industry with 60,000 members.

The fact that some of the antiracial manifestations seem to show similarities to Fascist behavior during the past war does not mean that Fascism is resurging. Communists take advantage of any possible basis for friction to increase the tensions between groups, both religious and racial.

The case of the Hawaiian-born couple who wanted to buy a house in Des Moines, only to find that the owners were threatened in telephone calls from persons in the neighborhood where the new residence was to be purchased, is shrouded in mystery. The Hawaiian couple finally did buy the house they wanted, as public opinion asserted itself to welcome them. But there has been as yet no explanation of the reason for the anonymous calls and what stirred the case up. Similar activity has been reported from other sections of the country.

Unless citizens are alert to the possibilities of being exploited by those individuals who are interested in fomenting discord and breeding dissension, innocent persons may unwittingly become the instruments of such conspiracies.

Racial friction and antagonisms are unfortunately an old story in this and other countries, and were not invented by Communists. In Russia they themselves are guilty of racial and religious discrimination. But, with the Communist tendency to fish in troubled waters, it is possible for such feuds in America to be intensified now and for the resultant publicity to play into the hands of the Communist agitators.

Government officials are watching the situation closely. Some of the episodes have been staged by juvenile hoodlums, but whether the teen-agers have been egged on or incited to their acts by older persons with a purpose has not been disclosed. Officials here are not saying what conclusions they have drawn, if any, from the sudden emergence of racial episodes, and they are inclined to feel that local communities should be more vigilant than ever to find out something about the persons who seem to be eager to magnify racial or religious differences and produce public controversy that will attract the attention of the press.

There is, of course, at all times a legitimate pressure exerted by organizations representing minority groups which are striving by public education to bring about a better understanding between groups and to remove segregational restrictions and discriminatory attitudes, but none of these organizations condones or encourages methods of violence or threats of violence as a means of achieveing the objectives of their respective causes.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, March 18——I have returned to New York but I have an accumulation of information which I gathered in a number of European countries which I shall continue to report in these dispatches from day to day or intermittently. I have not given as thorough an account as I think the case deserves, of the subsidies which the citizens of this country are paying through their income taxes for the more abundant life of our carpet-bag government or bureaucracy in Germany. There are other phases of the "occupation" and of the simultaneous and continuing effort to "democratize" the Germans which I found were more obscure and more difficult to get at.

I think, however, that I have been able to sink a pick into this difficult subject, encrusted as it is with a hard shell of journalistic and political inhibitions and fears, and will work away at it with that persistence which has earned me the entitlements of bore and crusader. I will prove, at least, that much has been done in secret in Germany which should have been published to the American people if only because the American people, as a whole, one day will have to take the blame for a regular program of avaricious and predatory acts which were done under a constructive, legalistic "authority" from our citizens. We should have had such information as day-by-day news, anyway. I think I will be able to disclose some deals in Germany which reflect no honor on the people of the United States and yielded us no profit but were profitable to others acting under an assumption of authority from us. The administration in Germany, and I think this goes as well for the administration of General Clay who has been held up to us as a great and scrupulously conscientious politico-military administrator, has been of a general piece, morally, with the political administration here at home which raised Clay to higher rank than he might have reached but for his accommodating political amiability.

WHO WANTS NICKEL BEER?—Crowds fill a liquor store in Washington, D. C., where whiskey is advertised for sale at 13 cents a fifth. The catch is that they must then pay a Federal tax of $2.10, and a District tax of 15 cents, on each purchase. Purpose of the sale, the proprietor says, is to point up high tax rate on liquor.

Wrist Watch Run By Battery Shown By Elgin Today

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

Chicago, March 19 (AP)—An electric wristwatch, hailed as keeping almost perfect time, was announced today.

It has a little electric motor inside, yet is no bigger than a conventional wind-up watch. It has a barely audible tick, no mainspring, no winding mechanism.

A main secret is a tiny amazing battery, smaller in volume than a penny. It runs the motor for more than a year. Cost of a new battery probably will be less than a quarter.

The battery delivers power at an absolutely constant rate. It takes only 1/100,000th of a watt to run the watch.

The wristwatch was demonstrated today at a press conference by Elgin National Watch Company. Only a laboratory model has been made, said J. G. Shennan, Elgin president.

Simultaneously in Paris, the Lip Watch Company of Besancon, France, announced an electric wristwatch. It differs in many mechanical and electrical respects, Shennan said. The two firms have exchanged information, but each did its own research separately.

Shennan said the electric watch keeps better time than wind-up ones.

Fewer Parts

The electric watch will cost more, for some years at least, Shennan said, but price was not estimated. The first watches, possibly available within a year, will be for men, for the tiny motors aren't small enough yet for women's wrist watches. The watch is anti-magnetic, can be fitted with a water-proof case.

The works consist of a battery, motor, and a train of gears to drive the hands. There are far fewer parts than the 150 in a conventional watch.

Only a few details were disclosed immediately.

The battery, or energy capsule as Elgin named it, powers a synchronously-controlled motor, replacing the usual mainspring and other parts.

The motor develops only 1/75,000,000th of a horsepower. The watch uses so little power that electricity to light a 100-watt bulb would operate 10 million of them.

Coils for the motor are only an eighth of an inch in diameter, only 1/32nd of an inch long. They are wound with 3,000 turns of insulated copper wire, only a sixth as thick as human hair.

The company did not announce the exact shape of the tiny battery but said it was comparable in volume to one half inch long and smaller around than a pencil.

The Armour Research Foundation of Chicago assisted in the research.

Hercules Powder Co., Employes Given Raise

A three-cent hourly wage increase offered by Hercules Powder Company has been accepted by local 13226, United Mine Workers of America, District 50, and became effective March 17, the company said today.

The wage boost was offered in accordance with the Wage Stabilization Board's "Regulation 8" which applies to cost-of-living increases. The last increase granted Hercules employes under that regulation became effective last Sept. 17.

The increase will apply to approximately 900 employes.

Signs Civil Relief Act

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed today a bill extending the state's Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act until July 1, 1954. The law protects members of the armed forces from enforcement of court actions for default judgments, fines and penalties, evictions and non-payments of installment contracts, mortgages, taxes and insurance premiums. The extension bill was introduced by Republican Assemblyman Frank J. Becker of Lynbrook.

Hearing April 8

New York, March 19 (AP)—A Public Service Commission hearing on Consolidated Edison Company gas rates in Westchester county has been adjourned until April 8. Carroll H. Shaw, consulting engineer for the county, testified the company charges 80 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for gas although it costs only 30.4 cents to produce.

The name rubber comes from the fact that rubber can rub out pencil marks on paper, one of its earliest uses in Europe.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL
A Column of Contrary Opinion

The Ruminator thinks you can discard all the forecasts about business and markets which you are reading and focus on three things during this spring quarter:

1. Keep close track of what the consumer is doing with his money. Is he spending or saving? Newspaper reports on department store sales, and on bargain sales, will reflect the spending. Reports on savings, regularly published, will tell you whether savings are mounting or faltering.

2. Observe the "war tension." Note the progress (if any) over the Korean armistice question. Keep an eye open for further Russian aggression or "peace overtures."

3. Watch out for governmental "priming" of business if talk of "recession" becomes widespread. This is an election year and "good business" is essential when the party in power wants votes.

I think that the consumer will give the answer to this year's business. If the current indications of slumping activity continues, it is possible that we shall run into a brief, short-run "inventory recession." I call it "inventory recession" because if manufacturers and distributors become frightened over a possible sharp (if brief) slump you might see goods dumped on the market, at sharply reduced prices, in order to unload presently over-stocked goods.

There has already been a smattering of these dumping sales. The latest one I noticed was in records, in New York stores. Prices were slashed up to 40 per cent.

There have been general sales, of course, everywhere, but not much actual dumping of goods. The dumping psychology is contagious, however, and we need to watch to see if it catches on. But to repeat, there are no signs of panicky dumping yet.

There are suggestions that "war tension" may be lessened in coming weeks. It strikes me that it would be smart strategy for Russia to let up on war tensions at this time. It would tend to slowdown further the defense program here; also, it would help to continue the stalemated situation in western Europe and postpone longer the NATO plans of a European army.

As for what the government may do to invigorate business—if they see a slump coming—is difficult to forecast. The Washington "mind" thinks first of getting more money into circulation. The New and Fair Dealers are easy money people. Pour out the money they say, and people will spend it.

So we may see pressure to bear to ease up on restrictions for public activities. Credit may be loosened up again. There will be propaganda, too, to stimulate things. You may hear that "taxes can be reduced next year." This would be a popular thought and might influence more spending.

It would appear doubtful that few, if any, speed-up ideas would be incubated immediately. It is not unusual for business to be quiet in the spring quarter, and it is the third and fourth quarters that interest the politically minded. So, it is a fair guess that conditions will be allowed to rock along during March, April and May, to see what happens. If the present hints of a recession turn into actual facts, then we may expect to find Washington ready to jazz up things this summer.

Up to the present time the general opinions on business for 1952 have been optimistic. It is only within the past week or two that there have appeared "fears and doubts" about business. Therefore, it is rather early to be seeking "a contrary opinion." If, however, pessimism grows rapidly and opinions become heavily weighted on the side of a recession, we shall need to examine the situation thoughtfully.

In sum, it seems rather clear that it will be your dollar and mine—the public's dollars—rather than the defense dollars which will tip the scales of business in the months ahead. There are billions of defense dollars still to be spent, but if consumers hold off from buying in stores you might have a quickie slump that would scare a lot of businessmen. The defense billions, however, will prevent any serious collapse or prolonged recession. As a matter of fact, a brief recession would be a healthy development as it would improve the outlook for 1953.

Gerard Matthews, of 89 Hone street, suffered a neck injury in a traffic mishap at Broadway and East Chester street yesterday. A police report at 1:55 p. m., said Matthews had stopped for a light and was "struck in the rear" by a car operated by Frank Brandt, of Port Ewen.

Will Visit Dutch Church

From Academy Green, the motorcade will proceed up Clinton avenue, past the old Senate House, across North Front street to Fair street, down Fair street to Main street, and across Main street to the Old Dutch Church. The party will alight and enter the church where Her Majesty will be welcomed by the Rev. Arthur Oudemool. Her Majesty will inscribe the records of the church, which is her own church and the State Church of the Netherlands.

The party will leave the church at 3:10 and has been asked to return southward through Hurley, Stone Ridge and New Paltz. Her Majesty will spend the weekend as the house guest of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt at Hyde Park. No stops will be made on the trip from Kingston to Hyde Park, but it is hoped that the motorcade will slow down to 10 miles per hour through the small towns of the county so that the people out in Ulster county can catch a glimpse of the royal party. The route from the church to Hurley will be up Wall street, across North Front street, and up Washington avenue to Hurley avenue.

Of Interest to Thousands

The visit of Queen Juliana has created a tremendous amount of interest among thousands of people. It is expected that busloads of people will be in Kingston from surrounding cities, such as Albany, Schenectady, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Hudson, which have a common and traditional Dutch background. The local 300th Anniversary offices have been besieged by letters and telephone calls from all parts of the United States—one telephone call for 'reserved seats' came from Kentucky—from people who plan to be in Kingston on the fifth of April.

The City of Kingston will wear a festive air on that day with bunting, American and Dutch flags, and many special window displays featuring Dutch goods imported for sale during the anniversary year. An enterprising Kingstonian has a supply of large Dutch flags and is doing a landoffice business in renting them to merchants, hotels, and other celebrants, by the day.

Many Other Features

The visit of the Queen is only one, though the most important, of many celebrations to be held in Kingston throughout 1952. On May 16, Kingston High School will stage a folk-dance festival, in conjunction with a reunion of all academy and high school classes from 1890 through 1935. On First Settlers Day, June 5, the signing of the original deed to Kingston, on that date in 1652, will be reenacted. A military presentation and testimonial dinner to General Robert Hasbrouck are also on the program. On July 3, 4, 5 and 6, an aquacade and motorboat regatta are scheduled.

The Art Show, featuring works of local artist John Vanderlyn and examples of the "Hudson River School," will fill the George Washington School from July 16 through August 17. A low-cost railway fan club and family picnic excursion by train through the Catskill mountains will usher in Railroad Week. The New York Central Railroad Company will exhibit historic railroad equipment, including the old locomotive "999" which made and still holds the world's speed record, for this week.

An historic pageant, The Land of Beauty, treating of the background of the community will be offered, with a local cast of 500 citizens, on the nights of July 23, 24, 25 and 26. The weekend is Old Home Weekend during which many former residents of Kingston will return for special programs.

The 175th anniversary of the government of the State of New York, when Kingston was the State Capital in 1777, will be observed with pageantry and an address by Governor Dewey.

Three Former Servants Held in Vault Theft

Detroit, March 19 (AP)—Three former house servants of a wealthy lumber dealer who "didn't trust banks" were questioned today in the disappearance of close to a million dollars in securities from his home.

A strong box containing nonnegotiable stocks and bonds was taken from its hiding place under a closet shelf in the suburban home of Melvin Gutherie, 52.

Actual cash in the box was about $500, Gutherie told police. He said he had kept his securities in the box after his bank crashed in the depression.

Gutherie said he believed the strong box was taken while the family was on a recent vacation in Florida. He discovered its loss Monday night.

Missing were securities worth between $750,000 and $1,000,000 and from $27,000 to $35,000 in defense bonds. Gutherie said the thief would find it almost impossible to convert the securities into cash.

Held without charge for questioning were Thomas Hill, 40, a former handyman for the family, his wife, Delia, 38, and John W. Jackson, a truck driver.

All denied any knowledge of the robbery. The three were returned to jail in lieu of $10,000 bond each after a habeas corpus hearing yesterday was postponed to today.

Gutherie said the strong box must have been taken by someone who knew exactly where it was.

Voted for Herself

St. Paul, Minn., March 19 (AP)—"I've got to have my ballot back," the woman insisted. "I've made a terrible mistake." Election judges in the Minnesota presidential primary told her it couldn't be done. "Oh, my," she muttered on her way out. "I just voted for myself for president."

Eight Witnesses Heard In Prostitution Probe

Hudson, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—The special grand jury probing organized gambling, other vice and possible political corruption in Columbia county will reconvene Monday.

The jurors recessed yesterday after hearing eight witnesses in the opening of an investigation of prostitution in Hudson. One was identified as Sgt. Carl Wichmann of the state police.

Houses of prostitution have not operated here since troopers raided the red-light section on June 24, 1950. Wichmann was one of the officers in the raiding detail.

August Schnack, former night jailer at the Columbia county lockup, also appeared before the jury. However, a spokesman for the special prosecutor's staff said Schnack was not questioned on matters related to the prostitution probe.

Action Continued

Continued today in Supreme Court was the contract action brought by Philip M. Aqulino against Frank Cicale and the mechanics' lien action brought by Millard Lumber Company against Philip M. Aqulino and others. The actions grow out of the construction of a house on Pancake Hollow road by Cicale for Aqulino in 1949.

Heart Leader Sees Attainment of Goal

Although the 1952 Heart Campaign officially closed Feb. 29, returns on letters are still coming to the Heart Chapter office, according to an announcement made today by T. Jay Rifenbary, county chairman.

Rifenbary said: "Although we have not yet reached our goal—lacking less than $300 of the $5,000 needed to carry on the heart program for 1952-53, I am confident we will finally attain this sum. Many of those who received letters meant to send in checks or money orders but have probably forgotten it."

"The township chairmen and the general committee," Rifenbary said, "are very grateful to those who have so generously supported our 1952 Heart Fund campaign."

Mother, Son Injured As Car Strikes Pole

Mae Nicholsen, 36, of Greenville and her six year old son were injured Tuesday afternoon when a car operated by Mrs. Nicholsen left Route 32, above Quarryville, state police say, and struck a light and telephone pole. A small baby with her was not injured. Both of the injured were taken to the Greene County Memorial Hospital at Catskill. Mrs. Nicholsen sustained lacerations of the face and the boy lacerations and possible internal injuries.

Trooper John Gohde of the Kingston state police barracks investigated and reported the car had been traveling around a right curve when it left the highway and went off to the left and struck the pole. The accident happened about 2:30 o'clock.

$750,000 Fire

Belleville, Ont., March 19 (AP)—Fire raged for six hours today through a main business block of this east Ontario city, causing an estimated $750,000 damage. It was finally brought under control just before dawn. The fire gutted five business buildings and damaged several others. Five families were forced to flee apartments above the burned stores.

Matthews Injured

Gerard Matthews, of 89 Hone street, suffered a neck injury in a traffic mishap at Broadway and East Chester street yesterday. A police report at 1:55 p. m., said Matthews had stopped for a light and was "struck in the rear" by a car operated by Frank Brandt, of Port Ewen.

Parolee Picked Up

Kenneth Van Nostrand, 38, of 69 North Front street, was picked up by parole authorities Tuesday on a charge of violation of parole. He was held in jail for a hearing on the charge.

Schedule Released for Queen's Visit lay a wreath at the foot of the statue of Peter Stuyvesant.

Will Visit Dutch Church

From Academy Green, the motorcade will proceed up Clinton avenue, past the old Senate House, across North Front street to Fair street, down Fair street to Main street, and across Main street to the Old Dutch Church. The party will alight and enter the church where Her Majesty will be welcomed by the Rev. Arthur Oudemool. Her Majesty will inscribe the records of the church, which is her own church and the State Church of the Netherlands.

The party will leave the church at 3:10 and has been asked to return southward through Hurley, Stone Ridge and New Paltz. Her Majesty will spend the weekend as the house guest of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt at Hyde Park. No stops will be made on the trip from Kingston to Hyde Park, but it is hoped that the motorcade will slow down to 10 miles per hour through the small towns of the county so that the people out in Ulster county can catch a glimpse of the royal party. The route from the church to Hurley will be up Wall street, across North Front street, and up Washington avenue to Hurley avenue.

Of Interest to Thousands

The visit of Queen Juliana has created a tremendous amount of interest among thousands of people. It is expected that busloads of people will be in Kingston from surrounding cities, such as Albany, Schenectady, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Hudson, which have a common and traditional Dutch background. The local 300th Anniversary offices have been besieged by letters and telephone calls from all parts of the United States—one telephone call for 'reserved seats' came from Kentucky—from people who plan to be in Kingston on the fifth of April.

The City of Kingston will wear a festive air on that day with bunting, American and Dutch flags, and many special window displays featuring Dutch goods imported for sale during the anniversary year. An enterprising Kingstonian has a supply of large Dutch flags and is doing a land-office business in renting them to merchants, hotels, and other celebrants, by the day.

Many Other Features

The visit of the Queen is only one, though the most important, of many celebrations to be held in Kingston throughout 1952. On May 16, Kingston High School will stage a folk-dance festival, in conjunction with a reunion of all academy and high school classes from 1890 through 1935. On First Settlers Day, June 5, the signing of the original deed to Kingston, on that date in 1652, will be re-enacted. A military presentation and testimonial dinner to General Robert Hasbrouck are also on the program. On July 3, 4, 5 and 6, an aquacade and motorboat regatta are scheduled.

The Art Show, featuring works of local artist John Vanderlyn and examples of the "Hudson River School," will fill the George Washington School from July 16 through August 17. A low-cost railway fan club and family picnic excursion by train through the Catskill mountains will usher in Railroad Week. The New York Central Railroad Company will exhibit historic railroad equipment, including the old locomotive "999" which made and still holds the world's speed record, for this week.

An historic pageant, The Land of Beauty, treating of the background of the community will be offered, with a local cast of 500 citizens, on the nights of July 23, 24, 25 and 26. The weekend is Old Home Weekend during which many former residents of Kingston will return for special programs.

The 175th anniversary of the government of the State of New York, when Kingston was the State Capital in 1777, will be observed with pageantry and an address by Governor Dewey.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time I have listened to local GI's describe the famous Wax Works of Madame Tussaud's on Marylebone road, London, which they visited. In the March issue of Reader's Digest Sylvia Martin tells all about Madame Tussaud's historical background. The extraordinary little lady who has been called "England's greatest showwoman" was the daughter of a Swiss-German couple named Grosholtz. When Madame Tussaud, then only Marie Grosholtz was six, she was taken to Paris to live with her doctor uncle, Dr. Philippe Curtius. As a young medic in Berne, Uncle Philippe had learned anatomy by modeling limbs and organs. For a hobby he made exquisite wax figurines of his friends which proved so fascinating that he was persuaded to show his collection to the public."

So little has been written about Madame Tussaud's background which brought about her famous museum that this article interested me no end. It seems that the studios of Dr. Curtius became the haunt of the fashionable due to his wax figurines and not his medical practice. Among his patrons he had Louis XVI and his sister Elizabeth, who was the same age as Marie Grosholtz. The two girls became devoted friends, and when Marie was 18, she went to live at the court of Versailles as Elizabeth's secretary and confidante. She also helped Uncle Philippe, under whose tutelage she developed into a gifted sculptress. Such was her fame at 22, that when Benjamin Franklin, first American Ambassador to France, came to the studio, it was not for her Uncle Philippe but for Marie that he posed, wrote Sylvia Martin.

"At the outbreak of the French Revolution in 1789 Dr. Philippe Curtius got himself sent to Mainz as the Republic's envoy extraordinary. But Marie, a well-known court figure, was locked up in La Force prison, her hair cropped short for the guillotine. (She certainly was trained by experience to produce the glamour and the horror of historical figures.) While she awaited death she was forced to model the dead. When Charlotte Corday stabbed the revolutionist, Marat, in his bath, Marie was rushed to the scene before the body was cold. The wax figure of Marat, cast from Marie's original mold, lies in a replica of the original tub in London today."

"When the terror ended Marie was released. Meanwhile, Uncle Philippe had died, leaving her only debts. She reopened her studio and at 34 married Francois Tussaud, a French engineer. Together they ran Tussaud's Museum. But business was poor, and after a few years Marie took one of her two sons and part of her collection to London, leaving Mr. Taussaud in charge of the Paris museum. It failed and she never saw him again." (What about the other son?)

Marie's first exhibition in London's Lyceum Theatre was a great success and for the next 32 years "Madame Tussaud's Waxworks" barnstormed in brightly painted wagons all over the British Isles."

Perhaps will tell more of Madame Tussaud's remarkable personal history which brought about her famous waxworks the first "must see" of Americans in London. She died at the age of 90 and the museum is now run by her equally talented great-great-grandson, Bernard Tussaud.

Unearth Ancient Bones

Branford, Fla. (AP)—When scientists dig in the "Bone Hole" they go about it like a jeweler working with a tiny, delicate watch. Looking for the bones of prehistoric animals—which have been taken from this spot in the sand hills of Gilchrist county in North Central Florida for several years—the scientists do their "heavy" digging with a light pick. But when a bone is located, the tools are grapefruit knives, harness needles, toothpicks and soft brushes. The bones, which have been there an estimated 20 to 30 million years, are quite fragile. When a bone is freed from the soil it is wrapped in burlap, then encased in plaster of paris before being removed from the pit. From this pit, 30 by 50 feet, have come bones of horses, deer, small rhinoceros and many dog-like animals. Yet scientists haven't gone more than 12 feet deep.

Jacoby on Canasta

PAY ATTENTION TO SAMBA SCORING

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"In a game of Samba the other night," relates a San Francisco correspondent, "we had a natural canasta of seven kings on the table as our only meld. We also had put down two red threes. At this moment the opponents melded out. How do we count our score?

"Some say we lose our meld because we don't have two canastas. Some say we keep our meld but lose the red threes. Some say we not only lose the red threes but also have them count against us. Which is the correct statement?"

To begin with, you don't lose the meld. You are entitled to 500 points for a natural canasta even though the opponents went out before you had two canastas. However, your red threes count against you. In other words, you must subtract 200 points for those two red threes. This leaves you with a bonus score of only 300 points (500 for the canasta, less 200 for the red threes).

Your first step is to write down 300 points in the bonus box of the score pad. Then you count the 70 points for the seven kings as an offset against the count of the cards in your hand and your partner's hand.

For example, let's suppose that the cards in your hand count 150 points and that the cards in your partner's hand count 175 points. The sum is 325 points that you must be debited for. However, the 70 points for the seven kings reduce your loss to 255 points.

Now you write minus 255 in the points box of the score pad. You are plus 300 in bonuses and minus 255 in points, so that your full score for the hand is a gain of 45 points.

Q—In a game of Samba, the discard pile is frozen by a wild card. If I have a sequence on the table, can I use it to pick up a discard that fits directly on the end of that sequence?

A—No. When the pack is frozen, you can take a discard only with a pair of natural matching cards from your hand. Those three cards must be melded immediately, and you cannot use any of them in a sequence. However, if there are other usable cards in the discard pile (underneath the top card of the pile) you are allowed to add them to sequences if you wish to do so.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

'Four-Eyed Fish'

The "four-eyed fish" of Central and South America has eyes which are divided into two parts by a black horizontal band. The upper part of the eye is used for vision in the air and the lower part for vision in water.

Keener Hearing

During World War 1, blind men were used to man microphones set up to detect German air-raiding parties, since their sense of hearing was much keener than that of men who could see.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time I have listened to local GI's describe the famous Wax Works of Madame Tussaud's on Marylebone road, London, which they visited. In the March issue of Reader's Digest Sylvia Martin tells all about Madame Tussaud's historical background. The extraordinary little lady who has been called "England's greatest showwoman" was the daughter of a Swiss-German couple named Grosholtz. When Madame Tussaud, then only Marie Grosholtz was six, she was taken to Paris to live with her doctor uncle, Dr. Philippe Curtius. As a young medic in Berne, Uncle Philippe had learned anatomy by modeling limbs and organs. For a hobby he made exquisite wax figurines of his friends which proved so fascinating that he was persuaded to show his collection to the public."

So little has been written about Madame Tussaud's background which brought about her famous museum that this article interested me no end. It seems that the studios of Dr. Curtius became the haunt of the fashionable due to his wax figurines and not his medical practice. Among his patrons he had Louis XVI and his sister Elizabeth, who was the same age as Marie Grosholtz. The two girls became devoted friends, and when Marie was 18, she went to live at the court of Versailles as Elizabeth's secretary and confidante. She also helped Uncle Philippe, under whose tutelage she developed into a gifted sculptress. Such was her fame at 22, that when Benjamin Franklin, first American Ambassador to France, came to the studio, it was not for her Uncle Philippe but for Marie that he posed, wrote Sylvia Martin.

"At the outbreak of the French Revolution in 1789 Dr. Philippe Curtius got himself sent to Mainz as the Republic's envoy extraordinary. But Marie, a well-known court figure, was locked up in La Force prison, her hair cropped short for the guillotine. (She certainly was trained by experience to produce the glamour and the horror of historical figures.) While she awaited death she was forced to model the dead. When Charlotte Corday stabbed the revolutionist, Marat, in his bath, Marie was rushed to the scene before the body was cold. The wax figure of Marat, cast from Marie's original mold, lies in a replica of the original tub in London today."

"When the terror ended Marie was released. Meanwhile, Uncle Philippe had died, leaving her only debts. She reopened her studio and at 34 married Francois Tussaud, a French engineer. Together they ran Tussaud's Museum. But business was poor, and after a few years Marie took one of her two sons and part of her collection to London, leaving Mr. Tausaud in charge of the Paris museum. It failed and she never saw him again." (What about the other son?)

Marie's first exhibition in London's Lyceum Theatre was a great success and for the next 32 years "Madame Tussaud's Waxworks" barnstormed in brightly painted wagons all over the British Isles."

Perhaps will tell more of Madame Tussaud's remarkable personal history which brought about her famous waxworks the first "must see" of Americans in London. She died at the age of 90 and the museum is now run by her equally talented great-great-grandson, Bernard Tussaud.

Unearth Ancient Bones

Branford, Fla. (AP)—When scientists dig in the "Bone Hole" they go about it like a jeweler working with a tiny, delicate watch. Looking for the bones of prehistoric animals—which have been taken from this spot in the sand hills of Gilchrist county in North Central Florida for several years—the scientists do their "heavy" digging with a light pick. But when a bone is located, the tools are grapefruit knives, harness needles, toothpicks and soft brushes. The bones, which have been there an estimated 20 to 30 million years, are quite fragile. When a bone is freed from the soil it is wrapped in burlap, then encased in plaster of paris before being removed from the pit. From this pit, 30 by 50 feet, have come bones of horses, deer, small rhinoceros and many dog-like animals. Yet scientists haven't gone more than 12 feet deep.

Jacoby on Canasta

PAY ATTENTION TO SAMBA SCORING

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"In a game of Samba the other night," relates a San Francisco correspondent, "we had a natural canasta of seven kings on the table as our only meld. We also had put down two red threes. At this moment the opponents melded out. How do we count our score?

"Some say we lose our meld because we don't have two canastas. Some say we keep our meld but lose the red threes. Some say we not only lose the red threes but also have them count against us. Which is the correct statement?"

To begin with, you don't lose the meld. You are entitled to 500 points for a natural canasta even though the opponents went out before you had two canastas. However, your red threes count against you. In other words, you must subtract 200 points for those two red threes. This leaves you with a bonus score of only 300 points (500 for the canasta, less 200 for the red threes).

Your first step is to write down 300 points in the bonus box of the score pad. Then you count the 70 points for the seven kings as an offset against the count of the cards in your hand and your partner's hand.

For example, let's suppose that the cards in your hand count 150 points and that the cards in your partner's hand count 175 points. The sum is 325 points that you must be debited for. However, the 70 points for the seven kings reduce your loss to 255 points.

Now you write minus 255 in the points box of the score pad. You are plus 300 in bonuses and minus 255 in points, so that your full score for the hand is a gain of 45 points.

Q—In a game of Samba, the discard pile is frozen by a wild card. If I have a sequence on the table, can I use it to pick up a discard that fits directly on the end of that sequence?

A—No. When the pack is frozen, you can take a discard only with a pair of natural matching cards from your hand. Those three cards must be melded immediately, and you cannot use any of them in a sequence. However, if there are other usable cards in the discard pile (underneath the top card of the pile) you are allowed to add them to sequences if you wish to do so.

'Four-Eyed Fish'

The "four-eyed fish" of Central and South America has eyes which are divided into two parts by a black horizontal band. The upper part of the eye is used for vision in the air and the lower part for vision in water.

Keener Hearing

During World War 1, blind men were used to man microphones set up to detect German air-raiding parties, since their sense of hearing was much keener than that of men who could see.

Talks With Undertakers

New York, March 19 (AP)—After more than three hours of discussion yesterday with representatives of union funeral employes and undertakers, Daniel Kornblum, director of the city division of labor relations, adjourned further meetings without date. He met with both sides in his office in the municipal building to discuss the issue in dispute, the expiration date of an existing labor dispute. In the event of a possible work stoppage after April 1, that might tie up most of the embalming and burials in this city, Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk counties, Kornblum said further efforts will be made to bring about an agreement.

Claim 60,000 TV Sets

Moscow, March 19 (AP)—Pravda reported today that about 60,000 television sets are in use in Moscow. The Communist party organ said the number included 35,650 installed during 1951 and another 8,000 during the first two months this year. Television stations also are in operation in Kiev and Leningrad, but Pravda gave no indication of the number of receivers there.

Apes and men are the only creatures whose eyes can be focused for different distances.

Waiting for the Cake

All the kids like "Grandpa" and there's little doubt they like the cake, too, especially chubby Chester Bitney, 11, (lower left) who ogles and smacks his lips in anticipation of good things to come. Center is John (Grandpa) Padden of St. Paul, Minn., who celebrated his 90th birthday by having the neighborhood kids in for a party. (AP Wirephoto).

Hen Comes to Rescue Of Pinched Budget Folk

Washington, March 19 (AP)—The hen is coming to the rescue of the family with the pinched budget. The Agriculture Department said today the hen is laying enough eggs now to provide two large ones daily for each person—at a cost from eight to 10 cents for the individual meal.

As a substitute for higher-priced meats, eggs provide proteins essential to good diets.

The department suggested that consumers take advantage of the egg "abundance" by serving them poached on hot creole or Spanish rice, creamed, baked in cheese sauces, hot deviled or stuffed, or Benedict—poached and served on thinly sliced ham or toast or English muffins with Hollandaise sauce topping.

To Hold Service

A midweek Lenten service will be held at the Reformed Church of the Comforter at 7:30 p. m., today. The Wiltwyck Guild will sponsor and conduct the service, and the sermon will be by the Rev. John Dykstra, minister of the Reformed Church at Hurley. The public is invited.

Hat Creation for Ike

TELEPHONES IN STATE NOW TOP 5½ MILLION

TIMBER-TOP VIEW OF TELEPHONE SERVICE. This lineman is busy at the job of building and maintaining the lines that carry your voice—a part of this year's big $180,000,000 improvement and expansion project. Good construction and good maintenance are the first steps in preventing service interruptions—and important reasons your telephone service is so dependable.

Service provided for more people than ever before —demand still heavy

HOW FAST DO THEY FLY? Special equipment developed by the Bell System and the Air Defense Command helps show how fast attacking planes are flying. A lens on the board changes color at regular intervals. By contrasting the color of markers used to track planes, these Filter-Center volunteers can tell how long it has been since ground observers reported them. It's one more way the telephone company helps Civil Defense.

SOMEWHERE in New York State last month, a New York Telephone Company installer finished one routine telephone installation and hurried on to the next. That was telephone number 5,500,000—about as many phones as in England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland combined.

It's now busily at work helping somebody—or some business—get things done faster. Its main use may be for shopping, running errands—keeping in close touch with friends. Or it may be helping to build bombers or big guns.

Telephone people didn't stop to mark this milestone. They kept right at the job of adding the new switchboards, cable and equipment required to supply today's telephone needs and to make service better than ever.

That's our big job these days, and nearly a billion dollars have gone into it since 1945. As a result, telephone users in the average community can reach twice as many people today without toll charge. Calls go through faster and clearer.

No matter where you live . . . city, suburb, town or farm . . . your telephone today gives you more value than ever, and it takes less from your family budget than ten years ago.

Scoffs at Rumor Of IBM Plant For Saugerties

A rumor that the International Business Machine company was negotiating for the purchase of the Cantine paper mills in Saugerties, was branded as "absolutely false" today by an official of the Cantine company.

For some time there has been a persistent rumor of IBM taking over the Cantine plant. The rumor has gained wide circulation in Saugerties and in Kingston.

Speaking for the company today Lewis F. Fellows stated that there was "absolutely no truth to the story." He further stated that the IBM had not even approached the company and branded the story as being without any foundation at all.

The expanding program of IBM has given rise to numerous rumors of the company taking over plants in numerous places, among them plants in this city. The rumor in relation to the Cantine plant was one of the most recent.

GARDINER

Gardiner, March 19 — Frank Agor and R. Deyo Borcherding were elected elders of the Reformed Church Congregational meeting held recently at the church hall. They replace Roy Every and Raymond DuBois. The new deacons are William Stametedes and Asa Barton to replace Richard Fall and Carl Dommries. A pot luck supper was served to 55 and there was hymn singing with Mrs. William Seitz at the piano. All organizations reported on the year's work. A film showing the Arnolds at the Akobo Mission in Africa was shown.

Flowers in the church last Sunday were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. John Grabaw and were given by their daughter, Mrs. Irving Otis.

The Dutch Circle will sponsor a food sale at the church hall on March 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butters, who have been spending the winter with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butters, Jr., of Miami, Fla., returned home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Hoffman, of Poughkeepsie, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Every.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tether and son, Ivan, of Barryville, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne, Jr., of Ballston Lake, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne, Sr.

Mrs. Frank DuBois is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mossman, Jr., at New Salem, and her daughter, Miss Evelyn DuBois of Purdy.

Mrs. Frank Perrault, of Newark, N. J., was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ostrander.

Mrs. Edward Clark and daughter, of Roscoe, were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard DeGraff.

Miss Loretta Nilon, of New York, spent the weekend with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Moran.

Miss Margaret Clinton, of New York, spent the weekend at her home here.

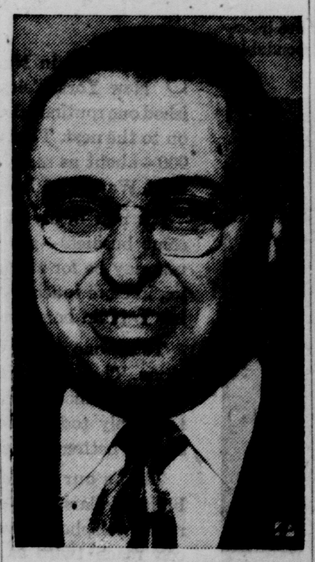
Mr. and Mrs. Donald Decker and daughter, Donna, of Modena, were guests of Mrs. Decker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wells.

The Misses Elizabeth and Hilda Dittman and Miss Joan Wells were among those attending the Ruiz-Tierney wedding at New Paltz on Saturday.

Says Ike Is Favored

New York, March 19 (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, arriving here from a visit with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said today the heavy write-in vote for the general in the Minnesota primary showed that "America wants Ike." The former ECA administrator said he intends to seek a three-month leave of absence from the Ford Foundation, which he heads, to devote full time to the Eisenhower campaign.

New Collector



Bruce E. Lambert (above), of the Internal Revenue Department's Washington headquarters, is shown at the New York office, March 17, after it was announced he will take over the job of Internal Revenue Collector Monroe D. Dowling who resigned by request of what officials called "an irregularity in one of his personal income tax returns." Dowling is the eighth collector removed in the current investigation of scandals in the nation's tax collecting service, and the third in the New York city area.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Grace Felter Harder

Mrs. Grace Felter Harder, wife of Alfred L. Harder of 80 Clifton avenue, died in Kingston early today. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, James, Rockville Center, and Dr. Alfred Harder, Kingston; and a daughter, Louise, wife of the Rev. Oliver D. Carberry of Albany. The funeral will be held Friday at 10:30 a. m. at the Mt. Marion Reformed Church. Burial will be in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Thursday between 7 and 9 o'clock. The casket will not be opened at the church.

'Money, Not Eggs'

Williba, Ky., March 19 (AP)—Clennie Hollon received a polite "thank you" for his eggs, but the collector of internal revenue asked that the remainder of his tax bill be settled with money. Hollon, operator of a country store and often quoted backwoods humorist, figured he owed $38.25 for Social Security tax. "But did you know," he wrote the Internal Revenue office, "I ain't got a cent to my name?" He said his chicken business was a failure and continued: "Since there ain't no market around here, I'll jist pay you fellers in eggs. You are close to a market and can swap the eggs for money."

Macy Sole Possessor

Great River, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Former Rep. W. Kingsland Macy (R-N.Y.) said today he now is sole possessor of the Suffolk County Republican Committee clubhouse at Timber Point here and that threatened litigation has been dropped. Says He Has No Control

The Nevadan described Morris, former president of the New York City Council, as a man without "control of his own emotions." This was an obvious reference to Morris' outburst against the "diseased minds" of senators investigating his part in some surplus tanker deals.

Meanwhile, former Internal Revenue Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., spent six hours yesterday behind closed doors with a House committee pursuing tax collection irregularities. Chairman King (D.-Calif.) told newsmen he would be recalled "probably before the end of this month."

Nunan refused to comment on his long session other than to say it was "pretty exhausting." Nunan, income tax chief from 1944 to 1947, has been accused by Sen. Williams (R.-Del.) of giving legal aid to tax-troubled clients too soon after leaving the government.

Scoffs at Rumor Of IBM Plant For Saugerties

A rumor that the International Business Machine company was negotiating for the purchase of the Cantine paper mills in Saugerties, was branded as "absolutely false" today by an official of the Cantine company.

For some time there has been a persistent rumor of IBM taking over the Cantine plant. The rumor has gained wide circulation in Saugerties and in Kingston.

Speaking for the company today Lewis F. Fellows stated that there was "absolutely no truth to the story." He further stated that the IBM had not even approached the company and branded the story as being without any foundation at all.

The expanding program of IBM has given rise to numerous rumors of the company taking over plants in numerous places, among them plants in this city. The rumor in relation to the Cantine plant was one of the most recent.

GARDINER

Gardiner, March 19 — Frank Agor and R. Deyo Borcherding were elected elders of the Reformed Church Congregational meeting held recently at the church hall. They replace Roy Every and Raymond DuBois. The new deacons are William Stametedes and Asa Barton to replace Richard Fall and Carl Dommries. A pot luck supper was served to 55 and there was hymn singing with Mrs. William Seitz at the piano. All organizations reported on the year's work. A film showing the Arnolds at the Akobo Mission in Africa was shown.

Flowers in the church last Sunday were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. John Grabaw and were given by their daughter, Mrs. Irving Otis.

The Dutch Circle will sponsor a food sale at the church hall on March 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butters, who have been spending the winter with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butters, Jr., of Miami, Fla., returned home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Hoffman, of Poughkeepsie, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Every.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Tether and son, Ivan, of Barryville, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne, Jr., of Ballston Lake, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne, Sr.

Mrs. Frank DuBois is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mossman, Jr., at New Salem, and her daughter, Miss Evelyn DuBois of Purdy.

Mrs. Frank Perrault, of Newark, N. J., was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ostrander.

Mrs. Edward Clark and daughter, of Roscoe, were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard DeGraff.

Miss Loretta Nilon, of New York, spent the weekend with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Moran.

Miss Margaret Clinton, of New York, spent the weekend at her home here.

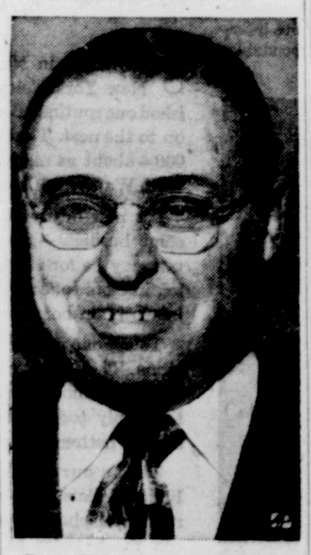
Mr. and Mrs. Donald Decker and daughter, Donna, of Modena, were guests of Mrs. Decker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wells.

The Misses Elizabeth and Hilda Dittman and Miss Joan Wells were among those attending the Ruiz-Tierney wedding at New Paltz on Saturday.

Says Ike Is Favored

New York, March 19 (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, arriving here from a visit with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said today the heavy write-in vote for the general in the Minnesota primary showed that "America wants Ike." The former ECA administrator said he intends to seek a three-month leave of absence from the Ford Foundation, which he heads, to devote full time to the Eisenhower campaign.

New Collector



Bruce E. Lambert (above), of the Internal Revenue Department's Washington headquarters, is shown at the New York office, March 17, after it was announced he will take over the job of Internal Revenue Collector Monroe D. Dowling who resigned by request of what officials called "an irregularity in one of his personal income tax returns." Dowling is the eighth collector removed in the current investigation of scandals in the nation's tax collecting service, and the third in the New York city area.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Grace Felter Harder

Mrs. Grace Felter Harder, wife of Alfred L. Harder of 80 Clifton avenue, died in Kingston early today. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, James, Rockville Center, and Dr. Alfred Harder, Kingston; and a daughter, Louise, wife of the Rev. Oliver D. Carberry of Albany. The funeral will be held Friday at 10:30 a. m. at the Mt. Marion Reformed Church. Burial will be in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Thursday between 7 and 9 o'clock. The casket will not be opened at the church.

'Money, Not Eggs'

Williba, Ky., March 19 (AP)—Clennie Hollon received a polite "thank you" for his eggs, but the collector of internal revenue asked that the remainder of his tax bill be settled with money. Hollon, operator of a country store and often quoted backwoods humorist, figured he owed $38.25 for Social Security tax. "But did you know," he wrote the Internal Revenue office, "I ain't got a cent to my name?" He said his chicken business was a failure and continued: "Since there ain't no market around here, I'll jist pay you fellers in eggs. You are close to a market and can swap the eggs for money."

Macy Sole Possessor

Great River, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Former Rep. W. Kingsland Macy (R-N.Y.) said today he now is sole possessor of the Suffolk County Republican Committee clubhouse at Timber Point here and that threatened litigation has been dropped. Macy, deposed chairman of the committee, had been in dispute with the committee since last fall over possession of the premises.

The Mature Parent

Child You Think Hates You May Just Need Your Love

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When we fear that we are bad parents, it is very hard to take responsibility—which is why, in child guidance clinics, mothers so seldom say, "I dislike my child intensely." We seem to prefer to make the child take the responsibility for what is wrong between us, and say, "My child dislikes me intensely."

Walter's mother was such a parent. To the worker in the child guidance clinic, she said, "You must find out what makes him hate me so. I can't get him to tell me anything. Last week, when I found what he'd done to my new chair, I said, 'What were you so mad about that you cut a hole in this cushion with the scissors?'—but he just pulled and kicked as though he couldn't stand me to touch him. If you can just get him to talk. . . ."

So the clinic went to work to get Walter to talk. Oh, not with words—those combinations of letters with which the most expert of us try vainly to utter the heart's tumults. No, the clinic didn't bother Walter with words. It just gave him a box of broken crayons; and later, four little dolls, a man, a lady, and two children.

As Walter played with them, he talked to the clinical worker in wordless, but clear and unmistakeable language. He said, "See how I am twisting the leg of this little girl doll? That is how I would like to hurt my sister whom my mother loves more than me. Notice how this mother bear I am drawing turns her back on her baby bear? That's how my mother's back is always turned to me. So I guess I will scratch this mother bear's picture out. I will hurt her for hurting the baby bear . . ."

As Walter gradually unburdened the tumults of his five-year-old heart, not in words but in the primitive language of play and art, the clinical worker began to translate what he said to his mother. Always what he said in different ways was this: "I love my mother stupendously. But since I am afraid that she does not want this love, I want to hurt her as she hurts me."

THE LANGUAGE OF ACTION

Messages like this began to affect Walter's mother in most curious ways. When he rushed off and hid himself at hearing that his supper was ready, she found that she wasn't angry at all. Instead of his action appearing as a devilish device to drive her crazy, it appeared inexpressively moving, the device to wrest an admission that a little son was dear enough to seek when he seemed to be lost.

And so, with this perception coloring her voice, Walter's mother would call down the cellar stairs. "Come on up here and see what dessert I have made for someone I love . . ."

As we can see, this switch in atttitude was largely due to the discovery by Walter's mother that she was loved, not hated.

When children behave most badly, they love us best and want us most. Since we are not clinicians to interpret the language of action, this is a very important thing to remember when they seem intent on doing things to hurt us.

There is nothing mysterious in the fact that children behave most unattractively when they want love terribly. Grownups do, too. When we feel that our love is unwanted, very few of us walk up to the person who seems bored by our love and say, "Look, I hurt you just now because I'm afraid you don't love me." Very few of us, indeed.

Though we don't rush into cellars to hide, we find other kinds of places. We are morose and bad-tempered. Like Walter, we see slight everywhere, so that unless we are very unusual people, we have no right to patronize him.

When grownups are angry with other grownups for not loving them, they wreck far more important things than upholstery.

28 Arrests Made; Movies and Books Held by Raiders

New York, March 19 (AP)—Nine alleged wholesalers of pornographic literature and two women were arrested today as police vice squads seized a half-ton of indecent books, pictures and movies.

In a crackdown on a ring allegedly supplying obscene materials to peddlers between New York and Chicago, the raiders also arrested 17 men who had paid $5 each to see an off-color film and girl show.

More arrests were expected today.

The raids in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn started last night after a weeks-long investigation, police said.

Both women were picked up at a Manhattan hotel where, police said, the 17 paying customers had gathered. Detectives said one of the women was waiting unclad to start her performance while the men watched the movie in another room.

The 17 spectators at the hotel show were booked on disorderly conduct charges.

Police said the two women and the nine alleged wholesalers, one of whom was described as the man "running the show in the hotel," were booked on various vice and conspiracy charges.

Phone Calls Traced

The Bronx district attorney's office said telephone calls from Connecticut were made to arrange for distribution of the literature. He did not elaborate.

One of the women, Kay Pyrch, 31, of (70 Mulford Gardens) Yonkers, N. Y., was charged with conspiracy to give an obscene performance.

The other, Palino Lazard, 31, of Manhattan, was charged with renting a place for immoral purposes. Police said she occupied the Hotel (Sherman Square, Broadway and 71st street) suit used for the show.

Police said Irving Bick, 41, of (1706 Davidson avenue) the Bronx, charged with conspiracy to sell or display pornographic literature, was running the hotel show.

The same charge, police said, was placed against the other eight alleged wholesalers.

The Mature Parent

Child You Think Hates You May Just Need Your Love

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When we fear that we are bad parents, it is very hard to take responsibility—which is why, in child guidance clinics, mothers so seldom say, "I dislike my child intensely." We seem to prefer to make the child take the responsibility for what is wrong between us, and say, "My child dislikes me intensely."

Walter's mother was such a parent. To the worker in the child guidance clinic, she said, "You must find out what makes him hate me so. I can't get him to tell me anything. Last week, when I found what he'd done to my new chair, I said, 'What were you so mad about that you cut a hole in this cushion with the scissors?'—but he just pulled and kicked as though he couldn't stand me to touch him. If you can just get him to talk. . . ."

So the clinic went to work to get Walter to talk. Oh, not with words—those combinations of letters with which the most expert of us try vainly to utter the heart's tumults. No, the clinic didn't bother Walter with words. It just gave him a box of broken crayons; and later, four little dolls, a man, a lady, and two children.

As Walter played with them, he talked to the clinical worker in wordless, but clear and unmistakeable language. He said, "See how I am twisting the leg of this little girl doll? That is how I would like to hurt my sister whom my mother loves more than me. Notice how this mother bear I am drawing turns her back on her baby bear? That's how my mother's back is always turned to me. So I guess I will scratch this mother bear's picture out. I will hurt her for hurting the baby bear . . ."

As Walter gradually unburdened the tumults of his five-year-old heart, not in words but in the primitive language of play and art, the clinical worker began to translate what he said to his mother. Always what he said in different ways was this: "I love my mother stupendously. But since I am afraid that she does not want this love, I want to hurt her as she hurts me."

THE LANGUAGE OF ACTION

Messages like this began to affect Walter's mother in most curious ways. When he rushed off and hid himself at hearing that his supper was ready, she found that she wasn't angry at all. Instead of his action appearing as a devilish device to drive her crazy, it appeared inexpressively moving, the device to wrest an admission that a little son was dear enough to seek when he seemed to be lost.

And so, with this perception coloring her voice, Walter's mother would call down the cellar stairs. "Come on up here and see what dessert I have made for someone I love . . ."

As we can see, this switch in atttitude was largely due to the discovery by Walter's mother that she was loved, not hated.

When children behave most badly, they love us best and want us most. Since we are not clinicians to interpret the language of action, this is a very important thing to remember when they seem intent on doing things to hurt us.

There is nothing mysterious in the fact that children behave most unattractively when they want love terribly. Grownups do, too. When we feel that our love is unwanted, very few of us walk up to the person who seems bored by our love and say, "Look, I hurt you just now because I'm afraid you don't love me." Very few of us, indeed.

Though we don't rush into cellars to hide, we find other kinds of places. We are morose and bad-tempered. Like Walter, we see slight everywhere, so that unless we are very unusual people, we have no right to patronize him.

When grownups are angry with other grownups for not loving them, they wreck far more important things than upholstery.

28 Arrests Made; Movies and Books Held by Raiders

New York, March 19 (AP)—Nine alleged wholesalers of pornographic literature and two women were arrested today as police vice squads seized a half-ton of indecent books, pictures and movies.

In a crackdown on a ring allegedly supplying obscene materials to peddlers between New York and Chicago, the raiders also arrested 17 men who had paid $5 each to see an off-color film and girl show.

More arrests were expected today.

The raids in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn started last night after a weeks-long investigation, police said.

Both women were picked up at a Manhattan hotel where, police said, the 17 paying customers had gathered. Detectives said one of the women was waiting unclad to start her performance while the men watched the movie in another room.

The 17 spectators at the hotel show were booked on disorderly conduct charges.

Police said the two women and the nine alleged wholesalers, one of whom was described as the man "running the show in the hotel," were booked on various vice and conspiracy charges.

Phone Calls Traced

The Bronx district attorney's office said telephone calls from Connecticut were made to arrange for distribution of the literature. He did not elaborate.

One of the women, Kay Pyrch, 31, of (70 Mulford Gardens) Yonkers, N. Y., was charged with conspiracy to give an obscene performance.

The other, Palino Lazard, 31, of Manhattan, was charged with renting a place for immoral purposes. Police said she occupied the Hotel (Sherman Square, Broadway and 71st street) suit used for the show.

Police said Irving Bick, 41, of (1706 Davidson avenue) the Bronx, charged with conspiracy to sell or display pornographic literature, was running the hotel show.

The same charge, police said, was placed against the other eight alleged wholesalers.

MISS JOAN H. RISELEY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Riseley of Wall street, Kingston, and formerly of Freeport, Long Island, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan H., to Richard A. White, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. White, O'Reilly street, Kingston, and formerly of Waverly, Pennsylvania.

Miss Riseley was graduated from Freeport High School, Class of 1951. She is now employed at Electrol, Inc.

Mr. White was graduated from Waverly High School, Class of 1949. He attended the Rochester Institute of Technology and upon completion of one year, enlisted in the United States Navy. He is now serving aboard the U.S.S. Basilone, stationed in Norfolk, Va.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Annual Family Dinner

Sisterhood of Ahavath Israel will hold its annual family dinner on Sunday, March 23, at the Vestry Hall, Spring and Wurts street. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p. m. and the public is cordially invited. Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Harry Spiegel, 4962-M.

Missionary Society

The regular meeting of the Missionary Society of the Reformed Church of the Comforter will be held at the home of Mrs. L. P. Galt, 87 Clifton avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Jewish National Fund Discussed at Hadassah Meeting

At the regular meeting of Hadassah on Monday evening at Temple Emanuel which was largely attended, the Jewish National Fund project was highlighted. Mrs. David Kline and Mrs. Alex Parnett gave an informative talk on JNF in which they explained in detail the facts about the reclamation of thousands of acres of land in Israel and the planting of the forests of six million trees which check soil erosion, conserve water and restore fertility to the soil. In conjunction with their talk, they called attention to a very unique exhibit presented by the Young Judea girls which was tree miniatures of the many types grown in Israel. These trees were made from colored sponges and dotted a large map of the State of Israel.

Appropriate to the season, Mrs. Herbert I. Bloom related the story of the festival of Purim recently celebrated.

Mrs. Harry Feldman, treasurer of the Youth Aliyah drive now in progress, urged all those who have not yet contributed to do so at once so that they may be eligible to attend the Youth Aliyah reception which will be held Wednesday evening, March 26 at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The interpretive dance performed so gracefully by Mrs. Harry Streifer, Mrs. Murray Fletcher and Mrs. Arthur London and narrated by Ms. Alvin Evans scored a hit with the audience. Much credit was given to Blanche Moak as the choreographer.

Mrs. Melvin Navy, program chairman, had charge of the program for the evening. Mrs. George B. Starkman, president, presided.

Celebrates 87th Birthday

Harvey S. Lane of Phoenicia celebrated his 87th birthday on Wednesday, March 12, at his home with a dinner party. Most of his family members were in attendance. The guests included Mrs. G. A. Hayes of Kingston, a niece and Mrs. Mabel Hudler of Mt. Tremper, a cousin. Mr. Lane received many cards from friends and relatives as far away as California. He also received many gifts including two birthday cakes. Mr. Lane is one of the oldest subscribers to The Freeman in this area.

Belles and Beaux in Agudas Achim Revue

Rehearsing for the musical revue to be held at the Elks Club auditorium, Fair street, Saturday, March 29 by the ladies group of Congregation Agudas Achim, are (kneeling l. to r.) Sally Basch, Jack Sheinvold, Doris Kaplan, Irv Grubman, Blanche Markowitz and Harry Katzoff; (standing) Kay Levy and Elaine Rosenbaum. Reservations will close Thursday, March 27. Those who wish to make reservations until that date may call Mrs. Jack Epstein, 6290, or Mrs. Max Weiner, 5641. (Freeman Photo)

Patricia Tierney Is Married on Sunday To Anthony J. Ruiz

Miss Patricia Louise Tierney, daughter of Mrs. Helen Tierney and the late Walter T. Tierney of New Paltz, became the bride of Anthony J. Ruiz, son of Mrs. Angelina Ruiz and the late Frank Ruiz, New Paltz, Sunday, March 16, at 4 p. m. at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in New Paltz. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Mahoney, pastor of St. Joseph's Church.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Murphy, Gardiner; Miss Carmella Petrucelli, New Paltz, while the junior bridesmaid was Veronica Tierney, sister of the bride. Their gowns were of the same styling as the maid of honor with blue headpieces of net crowns trimmed with rosebuds. The junior bridesmaid wore a blue taffeta gown, crinoline skirt and a net over-skirt trimmed with rosebuds. She wore a colonial bouquet of mixed roses while the bridesmaids wore colonial bouquets of red roses.

Frank Ruiz, brother of the groom, New Paltz, was best man. Louis Tierney, brother of the bride of New Paltz and Richard Andradez, New Paltz, cousin of the groom, were ushers.

They will make their future home with the groom's mother, Mrs. Angelina Ruiz, in New Paltz.

Mrs. Ruiz was educated at the New Paltz Central High School and was employed at IBM, Poughkeepsie. Mr. Ruiz was graduated from New Paltz Central High School and is associated with the Ruiz barber shop in New Paltz.

Announces Engagement

Mrs. Maria Mazzuca of 65 Hutton street has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Rose Mazzuca, to Raffaele Felice of Donnici Inferiori, Prov di Cosenza, Italy. The wedding will take place soon. They will make their future home in Kingston. Miss Mazzuca also is the daughter of the late John Mazzuca.

Genevieve Gilbert Becomes Bride of B. J. Dachenhausen

The marriage of Miss Genevieve Harriet Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gilbert of Ruby, to Bernard John Dachenhausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Dachenhausen of Ruby, took place Sunday, March 16, at 2:30 p. m. at the Flatbush Reformed Church. The Rev. John B. Steketee, of Hurley, officiated.

The bride wore a coral pink suit with black accessories and a corsage of white roses. Her cousin, Mrs. Richard Deitz, matron of honor, wore a blue suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Richard Deitz was best man. The mothers of the bride and groom wore corsages of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Dachenhausen left Tuesday for their new home in Atlanta, Ga.

MISS JOAN H. RISELEY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Riseley of Wall street, Kingston, and formerly of Freeport, Long Island, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan H., to Richard A. White, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. White, O'Reilly street, Kingston, and formerly of Waverly, Pennsylvania.

Miss Riseley was graduated from Freeport High School, Class of 1951. She is now employed at Electrol, Inc.

Mr. White was graduated from Waverly High School, Class of 1949. He attended the Rochester Institute of Technology and upon completion of one year, enlisted in the United States Navy. He is now serving aboard the U.S.S. Basilone, stationed in Norfolk, Va.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Annual Family Dinner

Sisterhood of Ahavath Israel will hold its annual family dinner on Sunday, March 23, at the Vestry Hall, Spring and Wurts street. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p. m. and the public is cordially invited. Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Harry Spiegel, 4962-M.

Missionary Society

The regular meeting of the Missionary Society of the Reformed Church of the Comforter will be held at the home of Mrs. L. P. Galt, 87 Clifton avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Jewish National Fund Discussed at Hadassah Meeting

At the regular meeting of Hadassah on Monday evening at Temple Emanuel which was largely attended, the Jewish National Fund project was highlighted. Mrs. David Kline and Mrs. Alex Parnett gave an informative talk on JNF in which they explained in detail the facts about the reclamation of thousands of acres of land in Israel and the planting of the forests of six million trees which check soil erosion, conserve water and restore fertility to the soil. In conjunction with their talk, they called attention to a very unique exhibit presented by the Young Judea girls which was tree miniatures of the many types grown in Israel. These trees were made from colored sponges and dotted a large map of the State of Israel.

Appropriate to the season, Mrs. Herbert I. Bloom related the story of the festival of Purim recently celebrated.

Mrs. Harry Feldman, treasurer of the Youth Aliyah drive now in progress, urged all those who have not yet contributed to do so at once so that they may be eligible to attend the Youth Aliyah reception which will be held Wednesday evening, March 26 at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The interpretive dance performed so gracefully by Mrs. Harry Streifer, Mrs. Murray Fletcher and Mrs. Arthur London and narrated by Ms. Alvin Evans scored a hit with the audience. Much credit was given to Blanche Moak as the choreographer.

Mrs. Melvin Navy, program chairman, had charge of the program for the evening. Mrs. George B. Starkman, president, presided.

Celebrates 87th Birthday

Harvey S. Lane of Phoenicia celebrated his 87th birthday on Wednesday, March 12, at his home with a dinner party. Most of his family members were in attendance. The guests included Mrs. G. A. Hayes of Kingston, a niece and Mrs. Mabel Hudler of Mt. Tremper, a cousin. Mr. Lane received many cards from friends and relatives as far away as California. He also received many gifts including two birthday cakes. Mr. Lane is one of the oldest subscribers to The Freeman in this area.

Belles and Beaux in Agudas Achim Revue

Sally Basch, Jack Sheinvold, Doris Kaplan, Irv Grubman, Blanche Markowitz and Harry Katzoff; (standing) Kay Levy and Elaine Rosenbaum. Reservations will close Thursday, March 27. Those who wish to make reservations until that date may call Mrs. Jack Epstein, 6290, or Mrs. Max Weiner, 5641. (Freeman Photo)

Patricia Tierney Is Married on Sunday To Anthony J. Ruiz

Miss Patricia Louise Tierney, daughter of Mrs. Helen Tierney and the late Walter T. Tierney of New Paltz, became the bride of Anthony J. Ruiz, son of Mrs. Angelina Ruiz and the late Frank Ruiz, New Paltz, Sunday, March 16, at 4 p. m. at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in New Paltz. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Mahoney, pastor of St. Joseph's Church.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Murphy, Gardiner; Miss Carmella Petrucelli, New Paltz, while the junior bridesmaid was Veronica Tierney, sister of the bride. Their gowns were of the same styling as the maid of honor with blue headpieces of net crowns trimmed with rosebuds. The junior bridesmaid wore a blue taffeta gown, crinoline skirt and a net over-skirt trimmed with rosebuds. She wore a colonial bouquet of mixed roses while the bridesmaids wore colonial bouquets of red roses.

Frank Ruiz, brother of the groom, New Paltz, was best man. Louis Tierney, brother of the bride of New Paltz and Richard Andradez, New Paltz, cousin of the groom, were ushers.

They will make their future home with the groom's mother, Mrs. Angelina Ruiz, in New Paltz.

Mrs. Ruiz was educated at the New Paltz Central High School and was employed at IBM, Poughkeepsie. Mr. Ruiz was graduated from New Paltz Central High School and is associated with the Ruiz barber shop in New Paltz.

Announces Engagement

Mrs. Maria Mazzuca of 65 Hutton street has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Rose Mazzuca, to Raffaele Felice of Donnici Inferiori, Prov di Cosenza, Italy. The wedding will take place soon. They will make their future home in Kingston. Miss Mazzuca also is the daughter of the late John Mazzuca.

Genevieve Gilbert Becomes Bride of B. J. Dachenhausen

The marriage of Miss Genevieve Harriet Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gilbert of Ruby, to Bernard John Dachenhausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Dachenhausen of Ruby, took place Sunday, March 16, at 2:30 p. m. at the Flatbush Reformed Church. The Rev. John B. Steketee, of Hurley, officiated.

The bride wore a coral pink suit with black accessories and a corsage of white roses. Her cousin, Mrs. Richard Deitz, matron of honor, wore a blue suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Richard Deitz was best man. The mothers of the bride and groom wore corsages of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Dachenhausen left Tuesday for their new home in Atlanta, Ga.

Paper on Eire Is Studied by Sorosis

Sorosis met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Willard Burke, 190 Washington avenue. A bulletin from Mrs. Rolland Davis, state president, was read. Attention was given to movies, public welfare and mental hygiene.

Mrs. A. Noble Graham, program chairman, reported a list of topics suggested for study for the coming year.

After singing songs in keeping with St. Patrick's Day, Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm presented her topic on Eire.

Mrs. Dumm introduced her paper on Eire by asking all the club members to join in singing two popular Irish songs, Sure, They Called It Ireland and When Irish Eyes Are Smiling, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Burke.

"The Irish Free State became a Republic in 1922," Mrs. Dumm said. She added Eire occupies five-sixth of the Island of Ireland and has a population of about three million people. She told of the geographic formation of the island, the climate, crops and chief exports.

Mrs. Dumm explained the educational system and mentioned the University of Dublin as the principal institution of high learning. The people of Eire are friendly, witty and generous in their hospitality, the speaker said.

In speaking of the literature of Ireland, Mrs Dumm mentioned the many well-known authors and poets, which led to the singing of the well-known ballad, the Wearing of the Green.

Mrs. Dumm gave a description of the cities of Dublin and Cork.

March 17 is the day all loyal Irishmen honor their patron saint, St. Patrick, and display his living symbol, the Shamrock. The Blarney Stone, another Irish symbol, also was described by Mrs. Dumm. In closing, the speaker said "Ireland is making good . . . it is no longer a sad country but as happy and contented a country as any in Europe."

The meeting closed with the singing of Mother Machree.

The next meeting of the club will be held Monday, March 31, with Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw of Mountain View avenue. At this meeting plans will be completed for the luncheon of the Ulster County Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Monday, April 7. Mrs. Davis, state president; Miss Alice Scardefield, third district director, and Mrs. Henry Knaust, county chairman, will be the guests.

Quake Jars Seoul

Seoul, Korea, March 19 (AP)—An earthquake of unmeasured strength jarred Seoul and central Korea at 6:25 p. m. today (4:25 a. m. EST). No serious damage was reported.

Personal Notes

Joan Kelsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Kelsch, of 50 W. Pierpont street, has been pledged by Theta Tau Theta, social sorority, at the Women's College of the University of Rochester. Miss Kelsch, a junior at the University, holds a New York State Scholarship.

Robert C. Benson of Ellenville is a member of the Newman Club, Catholic student organization, at Ithaca College. Enrolled in the School of Business, Mr. Benson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde S. Benson of 1 Charles street, Ellenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon S. Miller of 116 Main street announce the birth of a daughter, Jane Susan, on Sunday, March 16, at the Kingston Hospital.

Suppers & Food Sales

St. Paul's Ladies

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold a clam chowder sale at 355 Hasbrouck avenue Friday, March 28, beginning at 11 a. m. Persons must bring containers. Orders may be reserved by telephoning 6746 or 6944.

Clinton Avenue WSCS

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will hold a food sale at the J. J. Newberry Store, Wall street, Friday, March 21. The sale will open at 10:30 a. m. A variety of baked foods will be available.

Pilgrimage Play Is Planned April 6 at White Eagle Hall

The Holy Name Society of the Immaculate Conception Church will show the motion picture, the Pilgrimage Play, a full-length film in natural color, Sunday, April 6, at 7:30 p. m. at the White Eagle Hall on Delaware avenue.

Reviewers who have seen the movie say "this is a picture you'll be talking about long after you have seen it. For emotional power, for dramatic sweep, for tender pathos, for crushing tragedy and majestic triumph, this portrayal of the life of the Saviour is unexcelled."

Most impressive of all throughout the film is the masterful portrayal of the life of the blessed Saviour Himself as He goes up and down the Palestinian countryside proclaiming His Gospel and performing His wonderful miracles.

Another reviewer had this to say about the picture, "Seeing this picture is an ennobling experience. An experience you cannot afford to miss."

Through the medium of the screen, many millions to whom this story is as familiar as it is revered and loved, will be brought closer to Our Saviour. And countless others to whom the story is not so familiar will come away from the screen presentation of the Pilgrimage Play, ennobled and spiritually enriched.

This year marks the 30th consecutive year the Pilgrimage Play and its outstanding cast of professionals from Hollywood have contributed to the spiritual enrichment of this land of ours.

Tickets for this picture are now available and may be purchased from any member of the Immaculate Conception Holy Name Society or at the door the night of the showing.

Garden Club Names Mrs. Howard Lewis Delegate to Meeting

A meeting of the Ulster Gardens Club was held recently at the home of Mrs. Harold King with Mrs. Roger Loughran as chairman. There were 22 members present.

Plans for the flower show held in New York during the week of March 17 were discussed. Mrs. Loughran explained that she would be a hostess at the show Thursday, March 20, and expressed the hope of seeing many members of the Ulster Gardens Club in attendance.

The date of the June meeting was changed to June 24 instead of June 17.

Mrs. Howard Lewis was elected delegate to the meeting of the Garden Clubs of America to be held at Santa Barbara, Calif., in May.

Tea was served with Mrs. H. L. Bibby and Mrs. G. W. Codwise presiding at the tea table.

HOME BUREAU

High Falls Unit

The High Falls Unit of the Home Bureau will hold its regular monthly business meeting at Rock Cliff House Wednesday evening, March 19 at 8. Following the business meeting, there will be a lesson on sharpening scissors, with Mrs. James VanDemark as teacher. Please bring a three-cornered file and the scissors you want sharpened. A good attendance is desired.

Kerhonkson Unit No. 1

Kerhonkson Home Bureau Unit No. 1 met last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Berlin Wright. Chairman Mrs. Oscar Groves presided at the business meeting. Sixteen members were present.

Assistant Home Demonstration Agent Miss Helen Rowe, scheduled speaker, was unable to be present because of illness.

Mrs. Siegfried Abrahams gave an interesting account of the history and folklore meeting she attended at the county court house in Kingston last Thursday evening.

Project planning was discussed. The members each handed in a list of the projects they would like to take up next year. A few members brought in the work that they've been doing in the stenciling project.

Due to Holy Week the next meeting has been postponed until April 16 and will be at the home of Mrs. Joseph Friedman.

Hurley Unit

The Hurley Home Bureau held its regular monthly meeting on March 13, with 13 members present. The Chairman Mrs. Alton Dietz presided.

Mrs. David DuBois of New Paltz, who is sponsor of the Hurley Unit, was present to help with the discussion of the program for the coming year. Refreshments were served by the committee.

West Hurley Unit

A meeting of the West Hurley unit of the Home Bureau will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the West Hurley School. A representative of the mental health committee will show movies and Mrs. Ira Saxe will lead a discussion on making the most of Our Differences. Refreshments will be served.

Catholic Daughters Set Communion Date For Sunday, May 4

The regular business meeting of Court Santa Maria, 164, Catholic Daughters of America, was held last week at the K of C Hall.

During the meeting, it was decided that the next regular business meeting would be held Tuesday, April 8, instead of Thursday, April 10.

Initial plans for the initiation ceremony were made and it was tentatively decided that Sunday, April 27, would be the date of the ceremony.

Sunday, May 4, was chosen as the annual communion date. Officers and members will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 8 a. m. Mass at St. Peter's Church. Breakfast will be served at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

During the Lenten season, the weekly social night programs will be discontinued. Instead, all members are requested to meet at the K. of C. Hall to make bandages for the medical missions. The group will meet for this purpose Thursday night, March 27.

During the recent meeting, the Rev. Austin V. Carey, chaplain, gave an interesting and instructive talk and the meeting was concluded with prayers led by Father Carey and the singing of the National Anthem.

Stone Ridge Grange Will Sponsor Piano Recital March 31

A piano recital will be presented Monday, March 31, at 8:15 p. m. by Miss Jane Van Winkle at the Stone Ridge Grange Hall.

There also will be a group of vocal selections by Miss Joyce Flewelling. Both young women are students at Mount Holyoke College.

The program follows:

Sonata C Major, Opus 2 No. 3, Beethoven; Kreislerians, No. 1, Opus 16, Schumann; Toccata Ostinato, Robert Palmer; Gigue From the Partita in B major, Bach; vocal solos, Miss Flewelling; Four Preludes Opus 28, Chopin; Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 12, Liszt.

This program is being sponsored by the service and hospitality committee of the Stone Ridge Grange. Part of the proceeds will be given to the cancer fund.

Lambert-Slizewski

Alfred Slizewski of New York has announced the marriage of his mother, the former Edna Steeger Slizewski, to Walter Lambert of Bristol, Va., son of Mrs. Josephine Lambert of Kingston and Clayton Lambert of Bristol, Va.

The marriage took place Sunday, March 9, in South Carolina with Judge W. R. Douglas officiating.

Following the marriage, a reception was held for 125 guests at the home of Alfred Slizewski and Jack Varner at 333 West 88th street, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert left for a wedding trip touring the southern states.

Plan Progresses For Aerial Survey

The Kingston Planning Commission decided definitely last night to proceed with its plan to map the city by aerial photography.

This project is scheduled to start early in April. It is expected that by that time the snow will have left the area and there will be no foliage to cause shadows on the map which will be used in general city planning.

The maps will be made by Fairchild's Aerial Surveys Inc. The system, the commission decided, will be the quickest and least expensive means of making the maps.

Cooking Class Is To Feature Fish Preparation at 7

A quantity fish cooking demonstration sponsored by the State Education Department will be given this evening at 7 o'clock at the cafeteria of the MJM school. This demonstration was originally scheduled for the Washington school but was transferred.

Mrs. H. G. Cure, manager of the high school cafeteria, attended a similar demonstration at Poughkeepsie last evening and urges all those interested in quantity fish cooking to attend. The demonstration was most interesting, she reports, and the quickness of the preparation was outstanding.

Housewives, church groups, lodge groups, boarding housekeepers or any others who may be interested in preparation of small or large quantities of fish will be welcome and find the demonstration highly educational.

The demonstration lasts about an hour and will begin promptly at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. A. Noble Graham, program chairman, reported a list of topics suggested for study for the coming year.

After singing songs in keeping with St. Patrick's Day, Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm presented her topic on Eire.

Mrs. Dumm introduced her paper on Eire by asking all the club members to join in singing two popular Irish songs, Sure, They Called It Ireland and When Irish Eyes Are Smiling, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Burke.

"The Irish Free State became a Republic in 1922," Mrs. Dumm said. She added Eire occupies five-sixth of the Island of Ireland and has a population of about three million people. She told of the geographic formation of the island, the climate, crops and chief exports.

Mrs. Dumm explained the educational system and mentioned the University of Dublin as the principal institution of high learning. The people of Eire are friendly, witty and generous in their hospitality, the speaker said.

In speaking of the literature of Ireland, Mrs Dumm mentioned the many well-known authors and poets, which led to the singing of the well-known ballad, the Wearing of the Green.

Mrs. Dumm gave a description of the cities of Dublin and Cork.

March 17 is the day all loyal Irishmen honor their patron saint, St. Patrick, and display his living symbol, the Shamrock. The Blarney Stone, another Irish symbol, also was described by Mrs. Dumm. In closing, the speaker said "Ireland is making good . . . it is no longer a sad country but as happy and contented a country as any in Europe."

The meeting closed with the singing of Mother Machree.

The next meeting of the club will be held Monday, March 31, with Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw of Mountain View avenue. At this meeting plans will be completed for the luncheon of the Ulster County Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Monday, April 7. Mrs. Davis, state president; Miss Alice Scardefield, third district director, and Mrs. Henry Knaust, county chairman, will be the guests.

Pilgrimage Play Is Planned April 6 at White Eagle Hall

The Holy Name Society of the Immaculate Conception Church will show the motion picture, the Pilgrimage Play, a full-length film in natural color, Sunday, April 6, at 7:30 p. m. at the White Eagle Hall on Delaware avenue.

Reviewers who have seen the movie say "this is a picture you'll be talking about long after you have seen it. For emotional power, for dramatic sweep, for tender pathos, for crushing tragedy and majestic triumph, this portrayal of the life of the Saviour is unexcelled."

Most impressive of all throughout the film is the masterful portrayal of the life of the blessed Saviour Himself as He goes up and down the Palestinian countryside proclaiming His Gospel and performing His wonderful miracles.

Another reviewer had this to say about the picture, "Seeing this picture is an ennobling experience. An experience you cannot afford to miss."

Through the medium of the screen, many millions to whom this story is as familiar as it is revered and loved, will be brought closer to Our Saviour. And countless others to whom the story is not so familiar will come away from the screen presentation of the Pilgrimage Play, ennobled and spiritually enriched.

This year marks the 30th consecutive year the Pilgrimage Play and its outstanding cast of professionals from Hollywood have contributed to the spiritual enrichment of this land of ours.

Tickets for this picture are now available and may be purchased from any member of the Immaculate Conception Holy Name Society or at the door the night of the showing.

Garden Club Names Mrs. Howard Lewis Delegate to Meeting

A meeting of the Ulster Gardens Club was held recently at the home of Mrs. Harold King with Mrs. Roger Loughran as chairman. There were 22 members present.

Plans for the flower show held in New York during the week of March 17 were discussed. Mrs. Loughran explained that she would be a hostess at the show Thursday, March 20, and expressed the hope of seeing many members of the Ulster Gardens Club in attendance.

The date of the June meeting was changed to June 24 instead of June 17.

Mrs. Howard Lewis was elected delegate to the meeting of the Garden Clubs of America to be held at Santa Barbara, Calif., in May.

Tea was served with Mrs. H. L. Bibby and Mrs. G. W. Codwise presiding at the tea table.

HOME BUREAU

High Falls Unit

The High Falls Unit of the Home Bureau will hold its regular monthly business meeting at Rock Cliff House Wednesday evening, March 19 at 8. Following the business meeting, there will be a lesson on sharpening scissors, with Mrs. James VanDemark as teacher. Please bring a three-cornered file and the scissors you want sharpened. A good attendance is desired.

Kerhonkson Unit No. 1

Kerhonkson Home Bureau Unit No. 1 met last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Berlin Wright. Chairman Mrs. Oscar Groves presided at the business meeting. Sixteen members were present.

Assistant Home Demonstration Agent Miss Helen Rowe, scheduled speaker, was unable to be present because of illness.

Mrs. Siegfried Abrahams gave an interesting account of the history and folklore meeting she attended at the county court house in Kingston last Thursday evening.

Project planning was discussed. The members each handed in a list of the projects they would like to take up next year. A few members brought in the work that they've been doing in the stenciling project.

Due to Holy Week the next meeting has been postponed until April 16 and will be at the home of Mrs. Joseph Friedman.

Hurley Unit

The Hurley Home Bureau held its regular monthly meeting on March 13, with 13 members present. The Chairman Mrs. Alton Dietz presided.

Mrs. David DuBois of New Paltz, who is sponsor of the Hurley Unit, was present to help with the discussion of the program for the coming year. Refreshments were served by the committee.

West Hurley Unit

A meeting of the West Hurley unit of the Home Bureau will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the West Hurley School. A representative of the mental health committee will show movies and Mrs. Ira Saxe will lead a discussion on making the most of Our Differences. Refreshments will be served.

Catholic Daughters Set Communion Date For Sunday, May 4

The regular business meeting of Court Santa Maria, 164, Catholic Daughters of America, was held last week at the K of C Hall.

During the meeting, it was decided that the next regular business meeting would be held Tuesday, April 8, instead of Thursday, April 10.

Initial plans for the initiation ceremony were made and it was tentatively decided that Sunday, April 27, would be the date of the ceremony.

Sunday, May 4, was chosen as the annual communion date. Officers and members will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 8 a. m. Mass at St. Peter's Church. Breakfast will be served at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

During the Lenten season, the weekly social night programs will be discontinued. Instead, all members are requested to meet at the K. of C. Hall to make bandages for the medical missions. The group will meet for this purpose Thursday night, March 27.

During the recent meeting, the Rev. Austin V. Carey, chaplain, gave an interesting and instructive talk and the meeting was concluded with prayers led by Father Carey and the singing of the National Anthem.

Stone Ridge Grange Will Sponsor Piano Recital March 31

A piano recital will be presented Monday, March 31, at 8:15 p. m. by Miss Jane Van Winkle at the Stone Ridge Grange Hall.

There also will be a group of vocal selections by Miss Joyce Flewelling. Both young women are students at Mount Holyoke College.

The program follows:

Sonata C Major, Opus 2 No. 3, Beethoven; Kreislerians, No. 1, Opus 16, Schumann; Toccata Ostinato, Robert Palmer; Gigue From the Partita in B major, Bach; vocal solos, Miss Flewelling; Four Preludes Opus 28, Chopin; Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 12, Liszt.

This program is being sponsored by the service and hospitality committee of the Stone Ridge Grange. Part of the proceeds will be given to the cancer fund.

Lambert-Slizewski

Alfred Slizewski of New York has announced the marriage of his mother, the former Edna Steeger Slizewski, to Walter Lambert of Bristol, Va., son of Mrs. Josephine Lambert of Kingston and Clayton Lambert of Bristol, Va.

The marriage took place Sunday, March 9, in South Carolina with Judge W. R. Douglas officiating.

Following the marriage, a reception was held for 125 guests at the home of Alfred Slizewski and Jack Varner at 333 West 88th street, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert left for a wedding trip touring the southern states.

Plan Progresses For Aerial Survey

The Kingston Planning Commission decided definitely last night to proceed with its plan to map the city by aerial photography.

This project is scheduled to start early in April. It is expected that by that time the snow will have left the area and there will be no foliage to cause shadows on the map which will be used in general city planning.

The maps will be made by Fairchild's Aerial Surveys Inc. The system, the commission decided, will be the quickest and least expensive means of making the maps.

Cooking Class Is To Feature Fish Preparation at 7

A quantity fish cooking demonstration sponsored by the State Education Department will be given this evening at 7 o'clock at the cafeteria of the MJM school. This demonstration was originally scheduled for the Washington school but was transferred.

Mrs. H. G. Cure, manager of the high school cafeteria, attended a similar demonstration at Poughkeepsie last evening and urges all those interested in quantity fish cooking to attend. The demonstration was most interesting, she reports, and the quickness of the preparation was outstanding.

Housewives, church groups, lodge groups, boarding housekeepers or any others who may be interested in preparation of small or large quantities of fish will be welcome and find the demonstration highly educational.

The demonstration lasts about an hour and will begin promptly at 7 o'clock.

Part of Russian Plan Endorsed in Germany

Bonn, Germany, March 19 (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's major opposition—the Socialists—last night endorsed part of the Russians' latest proposals on Germany.

A formal Socialist statement called for four power talks to arrange a free national German election and unification of the occupation-divided country as a prelude to a peace treaty.

Adenauer and the United States, Britain and France contend that a United Nations commission now in west Germany must determine whether conditions will permit a free election in all of the country.

The Russians and the Communist east German government have refused to admit the UN group, insisting that the election and unification can be settled only by the four occupation powers.

Blame Firebug

New York, March 19 (AP)—Police said a firebug set fires in five brick tenement buildings in the same block in the Crown Heights section of Brooklyn today, but only trifling damage was reported. The first was discovered in a baby carriage on the first floor of a three-story building at 231 Troy avenue. While firemen were fighting this blaze, alarms came in from buildings at 229, 233, 235 and 239 on the same street. Twenty-five families were aroused by the flames, but none had to leave their quarters. No one was injured.

SCOTCH BARLEY BROTH FOR MEN

SCOTCH BARLEY BROTH with lamb in it makes a savory one-dish appetite pleaser for lunch or supper.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

A man-size bowl of steaming Scotch barley broth, with meaty pieces of lamb in it, makes a meal in itself. Serve toasted crackers. Melba toast or salted bread sticks with it, plus raw carrot sticks and celery.

In making, simmer the broth (never cook quickly) to develop full flavor. Serve in large soup bowls.

Scotch Barley Broth
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

One pound lamb neck or shank, cut in pieces, 5 cups water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 bay leaf, 1/3 cup pearled barley, 2½ cups chopped celery, 2 cups sliced carrots, 1 cup peas (fresh or canned).

Trim fat from meat and melt in frying pan. Cut meat from bones; brown meat and bones in hot fat. Put in deep kettle; add water, salt and bay leaf; cover and cook slowly one and one-half hours. Add barley, celery and carrots and continue cooking one hour longer. Add peas and cook 15 minutes longer or until meat and barley are tender.

Liver Corn Meal Pie
(6 servings)

Liver Filling: One pound beef liver, ¼ cup shortening, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups tomato juice, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon chili powder, 1 cup sliced onions, 1 cup green beans, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Cut liver in one-inch strips; flour lightly. Melt shortening; brown liver in hot shortening slowly on all sides. Sprinkle the 2 tablespoons flour over liver and stir to combine; then add tomato juice, salt, pepper, chili powder and onion.

Stir until ingredients are well mixed; cover and cook slowly 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add beans and Worcestershire sauce just before putting filling in pie shell.

Pastry: Two-thirds cup enriched corn meal, 1 1/3 cups enriched flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, 5 to 6 tablespoons water.

Sift together corn meal, flour and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse bread crumbs. Add water, a little at a time until mixture will hold together. Roll out ½ of pastry to fit an 8 or 9-inch pie pan; put liver filling in pan.

Roll out remaining pastry to make top crust; seal edges well; prick surface to release steam. Brush top with milk or cream, if desired. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and make 10 to 15 minutes longer or until brown. Cut in wedges and serve.

Tomorrow's Menu

LUNCHEON: Scotch barley broth, bread sticks or Melba toast, raw carrot and celery stick's apple pie with cheese, tea, milk.

Hoffman for Ike

Paris, March 19 (AP) — The French news agency today quoted Paul Hoffman as saying before he left Paris last night that he planned to ask a three-month leave of absence from his position as director of the Philanthropic Ford Foundation so he could devote more time to the presidential campaign for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A man-size bowl of steaming Scotch barley broth, with meaty pieces of lamb in it, makes a meal in itself. Serve toasted crackers. Melba toast or salted bread sticks with it, plus raw carrot sticks and celery.

In making, simmer the broth (never cook quickly) to develop full flavor. Serve in large soup bowls.

Scotch Barley Broth
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

One pound lamb neck or shank, cut in pieces, 5 cups water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 bay leaf, 1/3 cup pearled barley, 2½ cups chopped celery, 2 cups sliced carrots, 1 cup peas (fresh or canned).

Trim fat from meat and melt in frying pan. Cut meat from bones; brown meat and bones in hot fat. Put in deep kettle; add water, salt and bay leaf; cover and cook slowly one and one-half hours. Add barley, celery and carrots and continue cooking one hour longer. Add peas and cook 15 minutes longer or until meat and barley are tender.

Liver Corn Meal Pie
(6 servings)

Liver Filling: One pound beef liver, ¼ cup shortening, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups tomato juice, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon chili powder, 1 cup sliced onions, 1 cup green beans, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Cut liver in one-inch strips; flour lightly. Melt shortening; brown liver in hot shortening slowly on all sides. Sprinkle the 2 tablespoons flour over liver and stir to combine; then add tomato juice, salt, pepper, chili powder and onion.

Sift together corn meal, flour and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse bread crumbs. Add water, a little at a time until mixture will hold together. Roll out ½ of pastry to fit an 8 or 9-inch pie pan; put liver filling in pan.

Roll out remaining pastry to make top crust; seal edges well; prick surface to release steam. Brush top with milk or cream, if desired. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and make 10 to 15 minutes longer or until brown. Cut in wedges and serve.

Tomorrow's Menu

LUNCHEON: Scotch barley broth, bread sticks or Melba toast, raw carrot and celery stick's apple pie with cheese, tea, milk.

Hoffman for Ike

Paris, March 19 (AP) — The French news agency today quoted Paul Hoffman as saying before he left Paris last night that he planned to ask a three-month leave of absence from his position as director of the Philanthropic Ford Foundation so he could devote more time to the presidential campaign for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

March Milk Price Fixed at $4.59

New York, March 19—A uniform price of $4.59 per hundredweight will be paid to dairy farmers for their March deliveries to pool-approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed, according to a forecast released today by Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

He estimated at the same time that the producer butterfat differential for March would be 6.2 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

Dr. Blanford said the forecast is based on a production estimate of 615 million pounds for the month. This would mean an average daily output of 405 pounds by each of the estimated 49,000 producers in the milkshed.

Handlers must submit reports to the administrator on the use made of their milk receipts for March not later than April 10. Using these reports, the administrator will compute and announce the actual uniform price and butterfat differential for March not later than April 14. Handlers must then make payments to their producers not later than April 25.

"What is the right play at the first trick on this hand?" asks a Portland, Ore., reader. "Should South take the finesse, or should he put up dummy's ace?

"When the hand was actually played, South finessed the queen of spades from dummy at the first trick, and he came to a sticky end. East won with the king of spades and shifted to diamonds.

"Dummy won with the ace of diamonds and returned a club. East played low, of course, and South won with the king. Now South couldn't get to dummy to lead another club. He tried to get there with a heart, but East took the queen of hearts and knocked out the king of diamonds.

"He still had the ace of clubs as entry to the rest of his diamonds, so he was sure to set the contract.

"South knows now that he should not have taken the finesse on this particular hand. He insists, however, that it was the 'percentage' play to take the finesse. Is this true?"

I'm happy to say that South was mistaken. I'm happy about it, because it would be embarrassing to come right out in print and advise a player to finesse a queen when I know in advance that the finesse will lose. In this case, the percentage play for South is to refuse the finesse—even though he doesn't know where the king of spades is.

South doesn't need two spade tricks to make his contract. He must bring in the clubs no matter what luck he has in spades. If East has the king of spades, a finesse will lose; and if West has the king of spades, the finesse is unnecessary.

Let's see what happens if South wins the first trick with dummy's ace of spades. He immediately leads a club and wins in his own hand with the king. He returns to dummy with a diamond and leads another club. East can take his ace then or on the next trick, but what can he do?

If East leads a spade, dummy's queen will stop the suit. If East leads anything else, South has nine immediate tricks.

St. Mary's Squads Sweep First Round Games in CYO Tournament

B Juniors Trip St. Peter's, 38-24; Two Met Victories

Saugerties, St. Peter's Are the Victims

The "B" quintet defeated St. Peter's "A", 38-24, in the Junior division.

In two Met division contests, St. Mary's A overwhelmed St. Mary's of Saugerties, 54-22, while St. Mary's B overpowered St. Peter's, 46 to 27.

8:00—St. Joseph's vs. St. Colman's (Met.)

Amato, Johnson Star

Joe Amato and John Johnson rimmed 15 points each to lead St. Mary's B against St. Peter's. The winners forged ahead 17 at the half. Tom Morrissey scored 14 points for the losers. Two Bobs—Diamond and Gordon—contributed 14 to the St. Mary total.

St. Mary's B team led all the way against St. Peter's A, 16-15 at the half, as Frank Turck tallied 14 points and Jack Redmond and Ronald Kozlowski hit with six each. Bob Maines led St. Peter's with seven, with Ed Ortleib and Dick Zech hitting six apiece.

St. Mary's A had nine of its ten players hit the scoring column in an impressive conquest of Saugerties. The locals jumped ahead 19-2 in the first period and were never threatened. By halftime the locals had forged ahead, 30 to 7.

Lou Perry and Ronnie Kozlowski emerged as the principal scorers with 10 points and P. McCloskey and Bob Cullum contributed 11. Jack Bartells was high for Saugerties with 11 points.

79-72 Victory Sets Up Possible Triple Playoff

Hercules Can Join Fun By Beating Electrol

Lou Schafer couldn't have mapped the YMCA "A" League schedule any better last fall if he were a licensed soothsayer.

Theoretically, every schedule is set up to create a tie for first place or a multiple playoff for the league championship.

That's exactly what is happening in the "A" loop and last night's 79-72 victory scored by Wiltwyck Motors over the hitherto league-leading Potter Bros. sets up an intriguing prospect for the last night of the schedule on Saturday.

If Hercules defeats the Electrol—and the record book says they can do it—Schafer will have on his hands a triple tie among Hercules, Potters and Wilwycks.

In that case, the playoffs will start on Tuesday, March 25, with Potters and Hercules meeting in the first game and Wiltwycks drawing a bye.

Should Hercules be upset by Electrol on Saturday, Potters and Wiltwycks will have the playoffs all to themselves on March 25.

Big Third Period

Led by Vince Peck, the Motormen unloaded a terriffic third period kick last night to outdistance the Potters, 58-49, going into the stretch.

Potters ground out a 19-18 lead at the quarter and boosted their lead to 33-28 at halftime. Then Peck and Big Bill went to work and Bud Scheffel came up with an assist to turn the game into a shambles.

Peck connected with six one-handers in seven tries. Kleine bagged 11 points with five deuces and a free throw and Scheffel hit with three deuces. The barrage gave Wiltwycks a 30-15 edge for the period and the game was safely tucked away, albeit Potters held a 24-21 edge in the stretch period.

Kleine Sinks 25

Wicks Racing Group Extended One Year

To Study Feasibility Of Off-Track Betting

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—The Wicks Racing Committee has a go-ahead from the Legislature to study the feasibility of legalized, off-track betting.

The Assembly unanimously gave final approval late yesterday to a resolution that extends the life of the joint committee for another year and appropriates $40,000 for its work.

Since the extension was voted in a resolution, it does not need the approval of Governor Dewey, who has vigorously opposed off-track betting proposals in any form.

The governor vetoed a bill in 1949 that would have set up a temporary state commission to study the issue.

Meanwhile, a bill was before the governor to allow the City of Yonkers and five counties to impose a 15-per cent admissions tax at pari-mutuel harness race tracks.

The counties affected are Erie, Genesee, Nassau, Orange and Saratoga.

Boost Tax Bite

The local "bite" would be in addition to the 5 per cent state admissions tax voted by the Legislature last week and now awaiting action by the governor.

Off-track betting bills have been hardy perennials in the Legislature almost since 1940, when the pari-mutuel betting law was enacted. All have died in committee.

The Wicks Committee was established last year. It is headed by Republican Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the Senate.

The committee said in its report to the Legislature earlier this month that if it were continued, it would look into the issue of off-track betting.

The committee said it had reached no conclusion on the touchy question, but added that New York state was "in a very real sense" a partner in a multi-million dollar horse-racing business because of the revenue it derived from pari-mutuel betting taxes.

Carpouzis Hits 37 in Po'keepsie

George Carpouzis unloaded 37 points to spark the local Jewish Community Center quintet to an impressive 73-64 triumph over the Poughkeepsie Center, last night on the Bridge City boards.

The KHS "second" rimmed 15 baskets and had seven foul conversions as the locals led 24-22 at the quarter and 47-38 at the half. The clubs battled on even terms after the recess.

Outscored 30-29 from the field, the Kingston cagers converted 15 out of 20 foul shots to cinch the verdict and hand the Bridge City club its first loss in eight starts.

Stu Slesar, former Poughkeepsie High varsity player, led the home club with 21 points and Stavisky hit 17. Mike Bahl and Jerry Kaplan collaborated in 28 of the Kingston points.

The Wicks Committee was established last year. It is headed by Republican Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the Senate.

The committee said in its report to the Legislature earlier this month that if it were continued, it would look into the issue of off-track betting.

The committee said it had reached no conclusion on the touchy question, but added that New York state was "in a very real sense" a partner in a multi-million dollar horse-racing business because of the revenue it derived from pari-mutuel betting taxes.

Carpouzis Hits 37 in Po'keepsie

George Carpouzis unloaded 37 points to spark the local Jewish Community Center quintet to an impressive 73-64 triumph over the Poughkeepsie Center, last night on the Bridge City boards.

The KHS "second" rimmed 15 baskets and had seven foul conversions as the locals led 24-22 at the quarter and 47-38 at the half. The clubs battled on even terms after the recess.

Outscored 30-29 from the field, the Kingston cagers converted 15 out of 20 foul shots to cinch the verdict and hand the Bridge City club its first loss in eight starts.

Stu Slesar, former Poughkeepsie High varsity player, led the home club with 21 points and Stavisky hit 17. Mike Bahl and Jerry Kaplan collaborated in 28 of the Kingston points.

Cards Rate Will Schmidt on Par With Vinegar Mizell as Prospect

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals' long search for a righthanded pitcher of the calibre of Mort Cooper may be over.

Fred Saigh, Cardinal president, said recently:

"Schmidt has a great chance to stay up because of his great poise, good control and the fact that he's faster than any pitcher except Mizell."

Schmidt has appeared in four games so far and hasn't yielded an earned run in 14 innings. He has allowed eight hits, walked only four and struck out 15.

The husky 22-year-old is on the Houston, Texas League roster. He won 19 and lost 14 with Omaha of the Western League in 1951.

Schmidt and Lefty Cliff Chambers teamed up yesterday to pitch the Cards to an 11-0 four-hit victory over the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, Fla. Schmidt allowed two hits in five innings, walked three and fanned six.

The Boston Braves won a brilliant 14-inning 1-0 duel from the world champion New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. Negro rookie, Bill Bruton and George Crowe, doubled with two out in the 14th off Joe Ostrowski to break up the game.

Pirates Nip Giants

Pittsburgh also grabbed an extra inning decision, nosing out the New York Giants, 3-2, in 11 innings, at San Bernardino, Calif. Bill Howerton broke up the game with a two-out, two-run pinch-hit triple.

Brilliant pitching also featured the Chicago White Sox' 2-1 triumph over Cleveland at Pasadena, Calif., and the Philadelphia Phils, 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators at Clearwater, Fla.

Bill Kennedy and Howie Judson limited the Indians to four singles. Rookie Hector Rodriquez singled home the winning run in the seventh.

The Phils collected only five hits to Washington's six but bunched three of them, a homer by Del Wilber, single by Richie Ashburn and double by Willie Jones in the third inning to win.

Houtteman Sizzles

Righthander Art Houtteman, in the army last year, allowed only four hits in seven innings as the Detroit Tigers downed the Philadelphia Athletics' "A" team, 3-1, at Lakeland, Fla.

A team of major league stars whipped the Hollywood Pacific Coast League team, 4 to 2, in a benefit game at Hollywood, Calif. The Stars scored all their runs in a ninth-inning rally, climaxed by Tookie Gilbert's three-run homer.

Brooklyn defeated its Fort Worth Texas League farmhands, 4-1, at Vero Beach, Fla., and the Chicago Cubs trounced the St. Louis Browns, 9-3, at Burbank, Calif.

Hank Sauer and Hal Jeffcoat each clouted a two-run homer to lead the Cubs to victory over the Browns.

Training Camp News in Brief

Fiala, a member of the Montreal farm team, drove into camp yesterday. A minute after he stepped out of his car it burst into flames. The car and his clothing were destroyed. Last year Fiala's wallet, containing $200 was stolen.

Raschi Ready

Clearwater, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Vic Raschi, veteran righthander of the New York Yankees, appears as good as ever.

..Raschi made his first appearance of the season yesterday and showed no ill effects from his right knee operation last winter.

Orlando, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Rookie pitcher Gerald Lane's five hitless innings are the pride and joy of Washington Senators and Manager Bucky Harris.

The Senators, notoriously shy of mound strength last season, are desperately seeking plugs for the gap.

Lane kept the Philadelphia Phillies hitless in the two innings he tossed during yesterday's exhibition at Clearwater. He gave up no hits in the three innings of his earlier start.

UMPIRE

First of a question-and-answer series written for NEA Service by Beans Reardon, who umpired in the National League for 24 years, including six World Series and three All-Star Games.

By BEANS REARDON
24 Years in National League

New York—(NEA)—Question: Which team in each major league has now gone the longest without winning a pennant?

Beans Reardon

Answer: Pittsburgh hasn't won a National League championship since 1927. The Chicago Americans last copped the flag in 1919.

Q. How many perfect games—nobody reaches first base—have there been in the majors?

A. Some figure five, others six. The debatable performance came on June 23, 1917. Babe Ruth, starting for the Boston Red Sox, walked the first Washington batter, then was ejected for arguing with an umpire. Ernie Shore relieved. The runner was promptly thrown out trying to steal. The next 26 batters went down in order. The last perfect game was turned in April 30, 1922, by the White Sox' Charley Robertson against Detroit.

Billards

BOWLING

Allen Hoey Tops Male Pinmen With 640; Ada Markle Fires 581 in Friendship

Allen Hoey sandwiched a 196 with 233 and 211 in the Central Rec League last night to lead the city's male keglers with 640, while Ada Markle qualified as Miss Bowlerette with a 188-182-211—581 blast in the Friendship League.

Larry Peterson knocked off 620, with 213, 208, 199, in the Silver Palace, while Kiki Smith's 164-147-150—461 topped the Hercules Women.

Seelbach Raps 608

Herm Seelbach also climbed into the "600" circle with 203-235—608 in the Silver Palace and Ed Smedes took show money in that loop with 204—577. Elwood Robinson fired 202—567; Cosmos Costello 232—564; Frank Russano 563; Ralph Mayone 216—554; Larry Jacobs 200—551; Orville Carney 531; Clarence Herdman 202—530; John Thompson 203—530; Ernie Magnusson 530; Percy Slover and Ray Roux 520.

E. Singer — 220—559

Eleanor Singer blasted the top single—220 — and second best series, 559, in the Friendship League. Rose Schatzel fired 535, Evelyn Gross 506 and Rose Rhymer 504.

Also in the top bracket were Marge Jansen 491, Marge Mellert 488, Phyl Gehringer 480, and Marge McCardle 475.

Championship Photos; No Banquet Shots

Runnerup to Allen Hoey in the Central loop was Bill Lawrence with 245—584. Cleon Robinson fired 217—578; Eddie Heins 570; Joe Sangi 201—569; Frank Bartroff 201—562; Frank Grimaldi 559; Earl Sleight 215—537; Ronnie Mauro 224—536; Frank Bruno 525 and Harry Hines 520.

Rita Hudela was runnerup in the Hercules Women with 446. Others in the "400 Club" were Rita Amarello 438, Faye Wilkins 412, Flo Maley 408, Pat Warner and Pete Wood 401.

Sam Moss trailed his old pal, Ed Wyant, by a few sticks with 209—545 in the Booster and Fred Hummel finished 542. The "500 Club" featured among others Al Hutton 540. Jim Ryan 233—538; Bob Goldstein 202—533; Bob Tierney 529, Ken Hopper 231—527; Ray Ashdown 525, Form Coughlin 237—520, George Houghtaling 509, Jake Ennis 508, Walt Schmitz 220—506. John Letus near-missed with 202—499.

Stan Hankinson reeled off 518 in the Federation National and John Matthews shot 497; A. MacDaniel 480. B. Heins posted 490 in the International.

Hits and Misses rolled 2192 net and 2690 gross in the Journal-American Handicap sweepstakes last weekend at New York.

KHS Faculty Five Meets Marshalls

The advance publicity says it's going to be a basketball game when the KHS Faculty takes on the KHS Marshalls in a post-season extravaganza Thursday night at the MJM gym. But you never can tell what will happen after that opening whistle.

A preliminary contest between the Senior and Junior girls is carded at 7 p. m.

Charlie Tiano will coach the Marshall squad and no varsity player will be eligible to compete with the Marshalls. The Faculty lineup remains a big secret but it has leaked out that "Long Shot" Culver has declined an invitation to play.

Scope Sights Make a Difference

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

For him, none of these new-fangled scope sights, none of these super-accuracy shenanigans. If he needed a deer he'd take down his trusty lever gun and sneak in close to where he could spot his buck through the wings of Rocky Mountain rear leaf sight, or just blast at him running and hope.

If he craved to eliminate a garden-marauding woodchuck, he'd poke him dead with a .22 rimfire—maybe. And all that arithmetic about velocity and trajectory curves—that was strictly for people who liked their oatmeal sprinkled with decimal points.

He Guffawed Those He Called Fancy Dans

And once upon a time this character went a-varminting with two dyed-in-the-wool woodchuckers, real gun nuts. He guffawed when they loaded the car with binoculars, with boxes of carefully-labelled cartridges, hand-loads with every one with two rifles apiece, heavy-barreled jobs bearing tenderly adjusted scope sights, plus shooting sticks and chuck rests.

But eventually the car stopped by a long pasture dotted with den-piles far from the road, and the gun nuts got out. To sneak up close when a huck stood at attention by his hole? No, to set up shooting shop on a rise near the wall which commanded the whole field clear of the road—200 yards, twice .22 range, from the nearest chuck's mound. What kind of foolishness was this? thought Ray.

Soon he learned. An incautious chuck popped out of his hole a full 300 yards across the field.

"That's for me," grunted one gun nut, and shifted his rifle in the chuck-rest, closing the bolt on one of those wildcat loads. That's for the birds, scoffed Ray, who was sure the chuck was safe as if he were in church.

But the splitting crack of the

.224 high-velocity job was instantly echoed by that water-melon-plop made by a 55-grain pellet slamming home, a plunk dear to every varmint hunter's ears. Ray began to think a bit.

Further Proof And Maybe He's Convinced

He thought harder when another chuck was executed fully as far from the gun—and when a careless crow exploded into black feathers 40 rods away.

"Let me try that," exclaimed the now not-so-crusty Ray when the next chuck strolled from his den. And so began either his salvation or his damnation as a gun nut.

On the journey home Ray's talk was of the whys of straight-taper barrels and 12X scopes, of what was full length cases resizing, and of how could his deer rifle be made to shoot like that.

And so now he argues the .219 Wasp versus the .22-250 for accuracy, talks of throat erosion and slow-burning or double-based powders, mumbles in his sleep of swages and scope attachments, 6 mms. and .17 calibers.

His children go hungry as this character loads his gunroom with super-accuracy equipment, his wallet stuffed only with prized targets. For he has become a gun nut.

Cards Rate Will Schmidt on Par With Vinegar Mizell as Prospect

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals' long search for a righthanded pitcher of the calibre of Mort Cooper may be over.

Fred Saigh, Cardinal president, said recently:

"Schmidt has a great chance to stay up because of his great poise, good control and the fact that he's faster than any pitcher except Mizell."

Schmidt has appeared in four games so far and hasn't yielded an earned run in 14 innings. He has allowed eight hits, walked only four and struck out 15.

The husky 22-year-old is on the Houston, Texas League roster. He won 19 and lost 14 with Omaha of the Western League in 1951.

Schmidt and Lefty Cliff Chambers teamed up yesterday to pitch the Cards to an 11-0 four-hit victory over the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, Fla. Schmidt allowed two hits in five innings, walked three and fanned six.

The Boston Braves won a brilliant 14-inning 1-0 duel from the world champion New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. Negro rookie, Bill Bruton and George Crowe, doubled with two out in the 14th off Joe Ostrowski to break up the game.

Pirates Nip Giants

Pittsburgh also grabbed an extra inning decision, nosing out the New York Giants, 3-2, in 11 innings, at San Bernardino, Calif. Bill Howerton broke up the game with a two-out, two-run pinch-hit triple.

Brilliant pitching also featured the Chicago White Sox' 2-1 triumph over Cleveland at Pasadena, Calif., and the Philadelphia Phils, 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators at Clearwater, Fla.

Bill Kennedy and Howie Judson limited the Indians to four singles. Rookie Hector Rodriquez singled home the winning run in the seventh.

The Phils collected only five hits to Washington's six but bunched three of them, a homer by Del Wilber, single by Richie Ashburn and double by Willie Jones in the third inning to win.

Houtteman Sizzles

Righthander Art Houtteman, in the army last year, allowed only four hits in seven innings as the Detroit Tigers downed the Philadelphia Athletics' "A" team, 3-1, at Lakeland, Fla.

A team of major league stars whipped the Hollywood Pacific Coast League team, 4 to 2, in a benefit game at Hollywood, Calif. The Stars scored all their runs in a ninth-inning rally, climaxed by Tookie Gilbert's three-run homer.

Brooklyn defeated its Fort Worth Texas League farmhands, 4-1, at Vero Beach, Fla., and the Chicago Cubs trounced the St. Louis Browns, 9-3, at Burbank, Calif.

Hank Sauer and Hal Jeffcoat each clouted a two-run homer to lead the Cubs to victory over the Browns.

Training Camp News in Brief

Fiala, a member of the Montreal farm team, drove into camp yesterday. A minute after he stepped out of his car it burst into flames. The car and his clothing were destroyed. Last year Fiala's wallet, containing $200 was stolen.

Raschi Ready

Clearwater, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Vic Raschi, veteran righthander of the New York Yankees, appears as good as ever.

..Raschi made his first appearance of the season yesterday and showed no ill effects from his right knee operation last winter.

..The 20-game winner allowed only two hits during his five innings in a game the Yanks dropped to the Boston Braves, 1-0, in 14 frames.

Bobby Thomson is the only player hitting consistently. Thomson is banging away at a .360 clip. Cleanup hitter Monte Irvin is under .200. The rest of the regulars also are below par at the plate.

Orlando, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Rookie pitcher Gerald Lane's five hitless innings are the pride and joy of Washington Senators and Manager Bucky Harris.

The Senators, notorjously shy of mound strength last season, are desperately seeking plugs for the gap.

Lane kept the Philadelphia Phillies hitless in the two innings he tossed during yesterday's exhibition at Clearwater. He gave up no hits in the three innings of his earlier start.

UMPIRE

First of a question-and-answer series written for NEA Service by Beans Reardon, who umpired in the National League for 24 years, including six World Series and three All-Star Games.

By BEANS REARDON
24 Years in National League

New York—(NEA)—Question: Which team in each major league has now gone the longest without winning a pennant?

Beans Reardon

Answer: Pittsburgh hasn't won a National League championship since 1927. The Chicago Americans last copped the flag in 1919.

Q. How many perfect games—nobody reaches first base—have there been in the majors?

A. Some figure five, others six. The debatable performance came on June 23, 1917. Babe Ruth, starting for the Boston Red Sox, walked the first Washington batter, then was ejected for arguing with an umpire. Ernie Shore relieved. The runner was promptly thrown out trying to steal. The next 26 batters went down in order. The last perfect game was turned in April 30, 1922, by the White Sox' Charley Robertson against Detroit.

Billards

BOWLING

Allen Hoey Tops Male Pinmen With 640; Ada Markle Fires 581 in Friendship

Allen Hoey sandwiched a 196 with 233 and 211 in the Central Rec League last night to lead the city's male keglers with 640, while Ada Markle qualified as Miss Bowlerette with a 188-182-211—581 blast in the Friendship League.

Larry Peterson knocked off 620, with 213, 208, 199, in the Silver Palace, while Kiki Smith's 164-147-150—461 topped the Hercules Women.

Seelbach Raps 608

Herm Seelbach also climbed into the "600" circle with 203-235—608 in the Silver Palace and Ed Smedes took show money in that loop with 204—577. Elwood Robinson fired 202—567; Cosmos Costello 232—564; Frank Russano 563; Ralph Mayone 216—554; Larry Jacobs 200—551; Orville Carney 531; Clarence Herdman 202—530; John Thompson 203—530; Ernie Magnusson 530; Percy Slover and Ray Roux 520.

E. Singer — 220—559

Eleanor Singer blasted the top single—220 — and second best series, 559, in the Friendship League. Rose Schatzel fired 535, Evelyn Gross 506 and Rose Rhymer 504.

Also in the top bracket were Marge Jansen 491, Marge Mellert 488, Phyl Gehringer 480, and Marge McCardle 475.

Championship Photos; No Banquet Shots

The Freeman will publish pictures of all championship bowling squads upon request this season, but no photos of banquets can be handled because of the pressure of state tournament activities. Requests for team photos should be directed to the Freeman sports department.

Runnerup to Allen Hoey in the Central loop was Bill Lawrence with 245—584. Cleon Robinson fired 217—578; Eddie Heins 570; Joe Sangi 201—569; Frank Bartroff 201—562; Frank Grimaldi 559; Earl Sleight 215—537; Ronnie Mauro 224—536; Frank Bruno 525 and Harry Hines 520.

Rita Hudela was runnerup in the Hercules Women with 446. Others in the "400 Club" were Rita Amarello 438, Faye Wilkins 412, Flo Maley 408, Pat Warner and Pete Wood 401.

Sam Moss trailed his old pal, Ed Wyant, by a few sticks with 209—545 in the Booster and Fred Hummel finished 542. The "500 Club" featured among others Al Hutton 540. Jim Ryan 233—538; Bob Goldstein 202—533; Bob Tierney 529, Ken Hopper 231—527; Ray Ashdown 525, Form Coughlin 237—520, George Houghtaling 509, Jake Ennis 508, Walt Schmitz 220—506. John Letus near-missed with 202—499.

Stan Hankinson reeled off 518 in the Federation National and John Matthews shot 497; A. MacDaniel 480. B. Heins posted 490 in the International.

Hits and Misses rolled 2192 net and 2690 gross in the Journal-American Handicap sweepstakes last weekend at New York.

KHS Faculty Five Meets Marshalls

The advance publicity says it's going to be a basketball game when the KHS Faculty takes on the KHS Marshalls in a post-season extravaganza Thursday night at the MJM gym. But you never can tell what will happen after that opening whistle.

A preliminary contest between the Senior and Junior girls is carded at 7 p. m.

Charlie Tiano will coach the Marshall squad and no varsity player will be eligible to compete with the Marshalls. The Faculty lineup remains a big secret but it has leaked out that "Long Shot" Culver has declined an invitation to play.

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

Once upon a time there lived a crusty character named Ray, which is only part of his true name, who was strictly a thutty-thutty man.

For him, none of these new-fangled scope sights, none of these super-accuracy shenanigans. If he needed a deer he'd take down his trusty lever gun and sneak in close to where he could spot his buck through the wings of Rocky Mountain rear leaf sight, or just blast at him running and hope.

If he craved to eliminate a garden-marauding woodchuck, he'd poke him dead with a .22 rimfire—maybe. And all that arithmetic about velocity and trajectory curves—that was strictly for people who liked their oatmeal sprinkled with decimal points.

He Guffawed Those He Called Fancy Dans

And once upon a time this character went a-varminting with two dyed-in-the-wool woodchuckers, real gun nuts. He guffawed when they loaded the car with binoculars, with boxes of carefully-labelled cartridges, hand-loads with every one with two rifles apiece, heavy-barreled jobs bearing tenderly adjusted scope sights, plus shooting sticks and chuck rests.

But eventually the car stopped by a long pasture dotted with den-piles far from the road, and the gun nuts got out. To sneak up close when a huck stood at attention by his hole? No, to set up shooting shop on a rise near the wall which commanded the whole field clear of the road—200 yards, twice .22 range, from the nearest chuck's mound. What kind of foolishness was this? thought Ray.

Soon he learned. An incautious chuck popped out of his hole a full 300 yards across the field.

"That's for me," grunted one gun nut, and shifted his rifle in the chuck-rest, closing the bolt on one of those wildcat loads. That's for the birds, scoffed Ray, who was sure the chuck was safe as if he were in church.

But the splitting crack of the

.224 high-velocity job was instantly echoed by that water-melon-plop made by a 55-grain pellet slamming home, a plunk dear to every varmint hunter's ears. Ray began to think a bit.

Further Proof And Maybe He's Convinced

He thought harder when another chuck was executed fully as far from the gun—and when a careless crow exploded into black feathers 40 rods away.

"Let me try that," exclaimed the now not-so-crusty Ray when the next chuck strolled from his den. And so began either his salvation or his damnation as a gun nut.

On the journey home Ray's talk was of the whys of straight-taper barrels and 12X scopes, of what was full length cases resizing, and of how could his deer rifle be made to shoot like that.

And so now he argues the .219 Wasp versus the .22-250 for accuracy, talks of throat erosion and slow-burning or double-based powders, mumbles in his sleep of swages and scope attachments, 6 mms. and .17 calibers.

His children go hungry as this character loads his gunroom with super-accuracy equipment, his wallet stuffed only with prized targets. For he has become a gun nut.

Cashin Sees Robin

With spring officially scheduled to arrive Thursday, winter took a final fling today with a heavy wet snow. County Judge John M. Cashin, however, is not taking his weather predictions from the almanac, he puts his trust in nature. Tuesday afternoon he observed a robin hopping about his lawn in search of worms. Today the same robin was hiding under his evergreens looking for a "handout" which the judge promptly provided. "He looked disappointed and cold this morning, but spring is definitely on the way," commented Judge Cashin as he drew his own coat collar about his neck and faced the snowstorm.

Clowns No Joke For Jones Dairy

Jones Dairy of the YMCA Basketball League sampled some KHS "second" basketball last night on the Y court and came out a poor second, if you'll pardon the pun.

Led by Hermie Sickler's 20 points, the Clowns (KHS Seconds), romped over the Dairymen, 61-41, after a 12-11 first quarter lead.

Sickler, from whom great things are expected at KHS next year, rimmed eight deuces and four singletons. George Telepas holed 17 and Bill DuBois had 11.

Paul Smith led Jones Dairy with 14 points and Dan Schrader hit with 10.

The boxscore:

St. Joseph's Upsets Salvation 'B' Five

St. Joseph's "A" squad upset Salvation Army "B," 31-30, to shatter a 10-game SA winning streak and create a triple tie in the Junior Church League.

It was a heartbreaking loss for the SA cagers who were hoping for an undefeated season. They blew 10 out of 12 chances from the foul line and were unable to hold a 17-15 halftime margin.

Bob Cahill led the winners with 10 points and Paul Giannuzzo hit with nine. Jack Schrader was high for SA with 10 points and Dick Bezemer scored eight.

Spring Just Ahead, Winter Lingers On

It was scheduled, by forecast, to turn to rain later today, but it was still snowing heavily at 1:10 p. m. today, although at that time it was not considered generally hampering to travel.

An Associate Press report said spring is officially due to start at 11:14 a. m., tomorrow and spring is in the air in many areas in the western half of the country, but it gave no such promise for the east and northeast.

Won't Count Write-Ins

Madison, Wis., March 19 (AP)—Write-in votes for Gen. Eisenhower or any other candidate will not be counted in the Wisconsin presidential primary April 1. Any such vote would invalidate the ballot, Gaige Roberts, director of the department of elections for the Wisconsin secretary of state's office, explained today that statutes will not permit a write-in campaign similar to that staged by Eisenhower supporters in Minnesota. Eisenhower isn't entered in the Wisconsin primary.

Flood, Now Fire

Kansas City, Kas., March 19 (AP)—Floodwaters in Kansas last July practically wrecked the interior of the Armourdale Baptist Church. Members of the congregation labored for months to repair damages, finally completing the work this week. Services were to resume next week. Today a fire swept through the church, destroying it. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Town Clerk
Town of Hurley, N. Y.

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Governor Dewey's promised signature was all that was needed today to give Bob Christenberry the powers he wants to "clean up" in New York state.

The Senate gave final approval yesterday to a bill that would give the Chairman of the State Athletic Commission sweeping controls over fighters and managers and power to force racketeers and shady characters from boxing.

When Christenberry took over, he promised he would clean out the "criminal scum" in the fight game or ask that the sport be abolished.

A demand that boxing be abolished was voiced again in the Senate yesterday by Democrat James F. Fitzgerald of Queens. He voted against the Christenberry bill. Fitzgerald was joined by Peter J. Dalessandro, Watervliet Democrat.

Brands Sport "Wrong"

Fitzgerald said the sport should be banned because "so little good comes from it" and "it is morally wrong."

The Christenberry bill was introduced by Senator Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo and Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens of Brewster, chairmen of the Legislature's Finance Committees.

1—Refuse or revoke a license "upon showing that the licensee has been convicted of a crime or has been guilty of fraud, or is an associate of criminals or irresponsible persons."

2—Forfeit the purse of any fighter or manager if commission rules were violated. Under present law, only a referee can forfeit a purse—and only on the ground that a fight is not honest.

Christenberry said broadening of this section would permit the commission to "supervise the conduct of its licensees before, during and after a match and impose swift and full penalties."

3—Require that a physician's report of an examination be filed with the commission before the match—not as it is now "as much as 24 hours after the bout."

4—Prescribe fees for attending physicians at fights "to insure the availability of expert medical attention at every contest."

The measure would allow the governor to name the chairman of the three-member commission. The chairman is picked by the members now—usually in compliance with the governor's wishes.

Saugerties Is Only

two Citizens Protective Party won the other two seats on the village board when Roy S. Helmsmoortel polled 770 votes and Joseph Vozdik polled 791. For the Taxpayers Party former trustee George B. Ohley received 519 and William J. Wright 576.

Although the Citizens Protective Party won the re-election of their three members, the Taxpayers Party retains control of the board since the four members elected in 1951 for two year terms were all representatives of the Taxpayers Party.

In Ellenville, Rosendale, Pine Hill and New Paltz all held elections but in none was there a contest. The slate presented, being elected.

Actress Is Honored

London, March 19 (AP)—Screen actress Anna Neagle was invested with the insignia of a commander of the British Empire today. Wearing a wide-brimmed black straw hat and a tailored suit, the British star went to Buckingham Palace to receive her accolade from the Queen's uncle, the Duke of Gloucester. Miss Neagle was one of 270 Britons to receive awards and decorations at the second investiture of Queen Elizabeth's reign. The awards were granted by her father, King George VI in the New Year's honors list just before his death.

Quake in Italy Kills 3

Catania, Sicily, March 19 (AP)—A powerful earthquake shook the Mt. Etna area today, killing three persons and injuring scores. Widespread damage was caused in the vineyard areas around the volcanic mountain. Two died at Santa Venerina, and a third persons was crushed under a falling wall at Zafferana. Villages on the eastern slopes have recorded several strong tremors in the past two weeks but no damage was done until today.

Mayor Is Rebuked

Tuckahoe, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Tuckahoe's Mayor Milton A. Gibbons, awaiting sentence on a gambling conspiracy conviction, was rebuked yesterday as he sought vindication in a village election. Gibbons, who founded the forerunner of the National Police Athletic League Movement to fight juvenile delinquency, was not a candidate but asked voters to show their confidence by backing a Democrat and an Independent. Instead, Republicans had winners in both contests for village trustees, and their party retained 3-2 control of the village board. The Tuckahoe poll was one of 89 municipal elections in Westchester, Rockland, Nassau and Suffolk counties.

Cashin Sees Robin

With spring officially scheduled to arrive Thursday, winter took a final fling today with a heavy wet snow. County Judge John M. Cashin, however, is not taking his weather predictions from the almanac, he puts his trust in nature. Tuesday afternoon he observed a robin hopping about his lawn in search of worms. Today the same robin was hiding under his evergreens looking for a "handout" which the judge promptly provided. "He looked disappointed and cold this morning, but spring is definitely on the way," commented Judge Cashin as he drew his own coat collar about his neck and faced the snowstorm.

Clowns No Joke For Jones Dairy

Jones Dairy of the YMCA Basketball League sampled some KHS "second" basketball last night on the Y court and came out a poor second, if you'll pardon the pun.

Led by Hermie Sickler's 20 points, the Clowns (KHS Seconds), romped over the Dairymen, 61-41, after a 12-11 first quarter lead.

Sickler, from whom great things are expected at KHS next year, rimmed eight deuces and four singletons. George Telepas holed 17 and Bill DuBois had 11.

Paul Smith led Jones Dairy with 14 points and Dan Schrader hit with 10.

The boxscore:

St. Joseph's Upsets Salvation 'B' Five

St. Joseph's "A" squad upset Salvation Army "B," 31-30, to shatter a 10-game SA winning streak and create a triple tie in the Junior Church League.

It was a heartbreaking loss for the SA cagers who were hoping for an undefeated season. They blew 10 out of 12 chances from the foul line and were unable to hold a 17-15 halftime margin.

Bob Cahill led the winners with 10 points and Paul Giannuzzo hit with nine. Jack Schrader was high for SA with 10 points and Dick Bezemer scored eight.

Spring Just Ahead, Winter Lingers On

It was scheduled, by forecast, to turn to rain later today, but it was still snowing heavily at 1:10 p. m. today, although at that time it was not considered generally hampering to travel.

An Associate Press report said spring is officially due to start at 11:14 a. m., tomorrow and spring is in the air in many areas in the western half of the country, but it gave no such promise for the east and northeast.

Won't Count Write-Ins

Madison, Wis., March 19 (AP)—Write-in votes for Gen. Eisenhower or any other candidate will not be counted in the Wisconsin presidential primary April 1. Any such vote would invalidate the ballot, Gaige Roberts, director of the department of elections for the Wisconsin secretary of state's office, explained today that statutes will not permit a write-in campaign similar to that staged by Eisenhower supporters in Minnesota. Eisenhower isn't entered in the Wisconsin primary.

Flood, Now Fire

Kansas City, Kas., March 19 (AP)—Floodwaters in Kansas last July practically wrecked the interior of the Armourdale Baptist Church. Members of the congregation labored for months to repair damages, finally completing the work this week. Services were to resume next week. Today a fire swept through the church, destroying it. Cause of the fire was not determined.

LEGAL NOTICES

Through default in chattel mortgages, General Motors Acceptance Corporation will sell at public auction on March 24, 1952 at 1:00 p. m. at Kingston Buick, Kingston, New York a 1939 Buick Coach, Motor Number 43620482, Serial Number 13437514, repossessed from James F. Woods, Kingston, New York.

Notice is hereby given in compliance with Section 142 of the Highway Law that Walter Maier, Superintendent of Highways of the Town of Hurley, Ulster County, New York, Plaintiff, has recommended the purchase of a Dump Truck at a maximum estimated cost of $3500.00. The Town Board of the Town of Hurley will meet at the Town Hall at West Hurley, N. Y. on the 31st day of March, 1952, at 8:00 P. M., to consider such purchase.

Dated March 19, 1952.

ISAAC S. ROSA
Town Clerk
Town of Hurley, N. Y.

Albany, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Governor Dewey's promised signature was all that was needed today to give Bob Christenberry the powers he wants to "clean up" in New York state.

The Senate gave final approval yesterday to a bill that would give the Chairman of the State Athletic Commission sweeping controls over fighters and managers and power to force racketeers and shady characters from boxing.

Christenberry asked for the legislation shortly after he was confirmed by the Senate as the state's boxing czar. Dewey urged passage of the bill.

When Christenberry took over, he promised he would clean out the "criminal scum" in the fight game or ask that the sport be abolished.

A demand that boxing be abolished was voiced again in the Senate yesterday by Democrat James F. Fitzgerald of Queens. He voted against the Christenberry bill. Fitzgerald was joined by Peter J. Dalessandro, Watervliet Democrat.

Brands Sport "Wrong"

Fitzgerald said the sport should be banned because "so little good comes from it" and "it is morally wrong."

The Christenberry bill was introduced by Senator Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo and Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens of Brewster, chairmen of the Legislature's Finance Committees.

The measure—which rewrites the 1920 Walker Law legalizing boxing—would give the Commission power to:

1—Refuse or revoke a license "upon showing that the licensee has been convicted of a crime or has been guilty of fraud, or is an associate of criminals or irresponsible persons."

2—Forfeit the purse of any fighter or manager if commission rules were violated. Under present law, only a referee can forfeit a purse—and only on the ground that a fight is not honest.

Christenberry said broadening of this section would permit the commission to "supervise the conduct of its licensees before, during and after a match and impose swift and full penalties."

3—Require that a physician's report of an examination be filed with the commission before the match—not as it is now "as much as 24 hours after the bout."

4—Prescribe fees for attending physicians at fights "to insure the availability of expert medical attention at every contest."

5—Require that fight tickets "shall clearly state the location of the seat." Only the purchase price must be carried on tickets now.

The measure would allow the governor to name the chairman of the three-member commission. The chairman is picked by the members now—usually in compliance with the governor's wishes.

Saugerties Is Only

two Citizens Protective Party won the other two seats on the village board when Roy S. Helmsmoortel polled 770 votes and Joseph Vozdik polled 791. For the Taxpayers Party former trustee George B. Ohley received 519 and William J. Wright 576.

Although the Citizens Protective Party won the re-election of their three members, the Taxpayers Party retains control of the board since the four members elected in 1951 for two year terms were all representatives of the Taxpayers Party.

In Ellenville, Rosendale, Pine Hill and New Paltz all held elections but in none was there a contest. The slate presented, being elected.

Actress Is Honored

London, March 19 (AP)—Screen actress Anna Neagle was invested with the insignia of a commander of the British Empire today. Wearing a wide-brimmed black straw hat and a tailored suit, the British star went to Buckingham Palace to receive her accolade from the Queen's uncle, the Duke of Gloucester. Miss Neagle was one of 270 Britons to receive awards and decorations at the second investiture of Queen Elizabeth's reign. The awards were granted by her father, King George VI in the New Year's honors list just before his death.

Quake in Italy Kills 3

Catania, Sicily, March 19 (AP)—A powerful earthquake shook the Mt. Etna area today, killing three persons and injuring scores. Widespread damage was caused in the vineyard areas around the volcanic mountain. Two died at Santa Venerina, and a third persons was crushed under a falling wall at Zafferana. Villages on the eastern slopes have recorded several strong tremors in the past two weeks but no damage was done until today.

Mayor Is Rebuked

Tuckahoe, N. Y., March 19 (AP)—Tuckahoe's Mayor Milton A. Gibbons, awaiting sentence on a gambling conspiracy conviction, was rebuked yesterday as he sought vindication in a village election. Gibbons, who founded the forerunner of the National Police Athletic League Movement to fight juvenile delinquency, was not a candidate but asked voters to show their confidence by backing a Democrat and an Independent. Instead, Republicans had winners in both contests for village trustees, and their party retained 3-2 control of the village board. The Tuckahoe poll was one of 89 municipal elections in Westchester, Rockland, Nassau and Suffolk counties.

Foreign Actress Wants $35,000 for Trunks

New York, March 19 (AP)—You never know what you can pick up at an auction sale.

In a Manhattan Supreme Court action made public yesterday, she said the hotel agreed to hold her 15 trunks.

But the hotel sold them in 1950 because they were not claimed in five years.

The trunks went at public auction. The Waldorf said they brought only $193.50, not even enough to pay for storage and advertising the sale. It filed a counter claim against Miss Gall for $744.50 in storage charges.

Among other things, she said, they contained:

26 handmade nightgowns worth between $1,500 and $1,800; 18 evening gowns worth at least $2,200; six hats worth as much as $60 each and a pair of silk pajamas worth $300.

Rare Hotel Mystery

New York, March 19 (AP)—Gems and cash totaling $17,900 were missing today from the plush Hotel Ambassador in a rare-type hotel mystery. The valuables reportedly were in a safety deposit box, lodged with scores of similar containers in a wall compartment in the cashier's office. Some $4,600 in cash, four pieces of jewelry valued at $13,300 and the box itself all disappeared, police said, between 1 p. m. (EST) Monday and 1 p. m. yesterday. The loss was reported late last night. Mrs. Maureen Talbot, of London, England, was the victim.

Needed More Diapers

New York March 19 (AP)—An army tug delivered an emergency shipment of disposable diapers at sea yesterday. A few miles out from New York, it caught a navy transport bound for Bremerhaven with families of servicemen and put aboard seven cases of diapers in answer to a request. "More babies sailed than we had expected," said the Military Sea Transport Service.

It is estimated there are 20 million bicycles in use in the United States today.
